PROROGATION FOR MARCH 2?

Premier Bennett expects prorogation of the current sitting of the Legislature about March 2. The session started Jan. 17. The budget debate is expected to conclude Thursday. The House then will go into committee for consideration of 1956-57 estimates.

The lawmakers still face the usually heavy task of dealing with new legislation.

Cold Sets Five-Year Record

Low of 14 For Tonight

Temperatures will drop to 14 degrees here tonight in what the Dominion weather office at Vancouver says is B.C.'s most severe winter in five years.

Weatherman William Mackie predicted a maximum Thursday of 30 degrees, and expects snow Friday with the advent of a warm Pacific storm.

Minimum temperature overnight was 13.8 degrees. Record low during the damaging November cold spell was 12.5 degrees.

Mr. Mackie predicted a few clouds tonight and some high cloud Thursday. Snow flurries will be infrequent, he said.

The weather struck severely at Brentwood Tuesday night, dropping four inches of snow between 9 p.m. and midnight and whipping the inlet with high wind. Trans-Canada Airline flights were grounded, and a Brentwood boathouse operator reported two boats badly battered by heavy seas.

The CPR reported the Canadian crack trans-continental passenger train, was 40 minutes late.

The Kettle Valley train, running on detour times, was about two hours behind schedule. The train has been detouring via Spences Bridge to miss a huge snowslide. The slide was plowed out Tuesday but a heavy snowplow went off the rails in a tunnel, tearing down timbers and rocks and blocking the line again.

The CNR reported its Super-Continental more than 10 hours late but blamed the delay on "weather conditions" on the prairies.

Finns Elect New President

HELSINKI (AP)—Premier Urho Kekkonen today was elected president of Finland for a six-year term. He will succeed 85-year-old Juho Paasikivi March 1.

Kekkonen, 58, won the election in a third round of voting by the 300 members of the electoral college. Electors voted party lines and cast 151 votes for Kekkonen, who has been premier five years.

Snow Isolates Manitoba Towns

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Manitoba snow ploughs were struggling through heavy drifts today to free snow-bound villages before emergency condition set in at a number of blizzard isolated communities in the province.

A number of rural Manitoba villages were reported cut off from the outside world by the latest storm, which dumped up to 10 inches on the already well buried eastern prairies.

None were in danger of food or fuel shortage as yet, highway officials and RCMP said.

Khrushchev's 'Red Bible' Proves He's Head Man

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Communist party congress opened its second day today with Nikita Khrushchev now proven the unchallengeable master of the party's—and Russia's—destiny.

Western observers agree that the massive report given at Tuesday's opening session by the party secretary confirmed him as head man and dissipated pre-conference rumors that changes in the top-level hierarchy were possible.

Observers say the six-hour speech by the ebullient ex-coal miner is likely to become the "bible" of post-Stalinist Russia.

For the next two days the 1,600 delegates will listen to speeches following Khrushchev's 50,000-word oration, and then hear a report on the five-year plan by Premier Bulganin.

Copies of Khrushchev's marathon speech were pasted on billboards throughout Moscow.

The Russian people started reading the text of the speech, which covers almost 10 pages of specially enlarged editions of Pravda and Izvestia.

The Soviet press rarely prints summaries of such occasions, and Russians must read through the length of a novel to find out what Khrushchev said.

Some less-important newspapers unable to print the full text of the Khrushchev speech published part of it today and said it was "to be continued."

It was noted that Khrushchev stressed that the "transition to socialism" need not always be connected with civil war in all countries and circumstances, though in some it was inevitable.

Khrushchev put peaceful co-existence with capitalism at the head of a list of Russia's main tasks, and said that pending agreement on major questions of disarmament, Russia would agree to stop hydrogen bomb tests.

The only alternative to peaceful co-existence was "the most devastating war in history," and the method of negotiation must become the only one in resolving international issues. He urged collective security in Europe and Asia followed by disarmament.

President Will Run Says Martin

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's second term go-ahead from his doctors sent Republican hopes soaring today to their highest levels since the president's heart attack. It also sent Wall Street stocks sharply higher.

The second term decision was still to be made by Mr. Eisenhower, who has said he will trust his "own feelings" more than his doctors' reports. But the doctors have told him that there is no medical reason to bar him from serving another four years in the White House.

The president has indicated repeatedly that his physical fitness would be the most important factor influencing his decision.

GOP ELATED

Republican leaders quickly cheered the report as "a green light" and "the best news yet" to encourage their hopes for a second Eisenhower administration.

Disclaiming inside information, House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., told a Maryland audience Tuesday night: "Come March 1, the president will say: 'I accept the nomination.'"

After a series of examinations which started last Saturday, the president's physicians gave him their report on Mr. Eisenhower's "good recovery" from his heart attack at Denver last Sept. 24.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the famed heart specialist, and Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, White House physician, did the talking for the group of six doctors.

"We believe that he can serve four or five years or longer in a very active position of great responsibility," Snyder said.

NO WEAKNESS SEEN

Snyder said there were no physical abnormalities in the president's heart except the expected scar in the muscle and that there were no symptoms indicating the muscle was weak.

Mr. Eisenhower's pulse, temperature and blood pressure were described as normal and stable.

The president is still taking a drug to prevent the closing of heart blood vessels and will continue to do so for some time.

Mr. Eisenhower has said that he expects to be ready to announce his second-term decision by the end of this month. He can ponder it during his holiday, starting today, on the Thomasville, Ga., estate of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

Assembly President Andre Letourneau immediately cleared the galleries and suspended the session, but the enraged deputies continued their battle in front of the assembly rostrum.

Some deputies began throwing chairs. From one of the seats the noise of firecrackers was heard.

Agence France-Presse reported that the "explosion" came from a toy pistol.

A Poujadist, Jean Damasio of the Seine department county, precipitated the fight when he and another Poujadist rushed for the speaker's rostrum in an effort to halt a vote on an anti-Poujadist motion.

Several Communist deputies dashed from their seats to haul the Poujadists down, and the fight became general between Communists and Poujadists.

SOCIALISTS JOIN IN
Damasio was the centre of an incident in the assembly Tuesday when he attempted a filibuster against a motion to invalidate the election of a Poujadist from the Haute Garonne department. He refused to budge from the rostrum, forcing Letourneau to suspend the session.

The same motion was up for debate today, and Damasio apparently was seeking possession of the rostrum to repeat his manoeuvre.

EISENHOWER ... will he won't he?

Wolf Packs New Threat in Europe Cold

From Reuters, UP

BELGRADE—Packs of famished wolves today attacked rescue teams extricating bodies from avalanche debris in the desolate mountains of western Macedonia, where at least 55 persons died during the week-end.

Europe's three-week-old cold wave had claimed a total of 526 dead and 30 missing today, with no relief in sight.

New snow covered most of the continent Tuesday night and extended over the eastern half of Britain. Rivers froze and harbors became ice-jammed as men and machines fought to relieve the cold's attendant misery. France and Italy were hardest hit.

Ice jams on the Rhine river near the famous Lorelei rock in Germany added floods to the other woes of the big freeze. The ice dam formed a 13-mile backwater and sent the river's waters 15 feet above their normal level at the village of Lorch.

In Britain there were mammoth traffic jams and a 40-minute subway delay in London as a result of frozen switches during the morning rush hour.

Today is Ash Wednesday, start of the 40-day Lenten period of penance leading to Easter.

Anglican and Roman Catholic churches of Victoria and district marked the day with services this morning, the 18 Anglican churches with communion services and the six Roman Catholic churches with special masses.

At Roman Catholic churches the priests marked foreheads of parishioners with ashes, called the "imposition," saying in Latin "remember man that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return."

Most Anglican churches will have Lenten services this evening. At Christ Church Cathedral the service will be at 7.30 with Rev. G. W. Lang in the pulpit.

Pundits Rate Nixon As Stevenson Equal In Vote-Getting

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor
The Victoria Daily Times

WASHINGTON—The United States is now entering the most expensive and probably the bitterest political campaign in its modern history.

But as of now no one can foresee either the personalities or the issues involved. The decision of President Eisenhower to run or not to run hangs over the election as a colossal question mark, and that question is on the lips of everyone in Washington.

It must be answered soon, now that his doctors say Mr. Eisenhower is "good for five to 10 more years of active life" in the presidency.

A Canadian is surprised to find the best-informed politicians and journalists of Washington split about evenly between those who are certain the president will accept a second term and those who are just as certain that he will not. If he has made up his mind one way or the other, his choice must be the best-kept secret of these times. He has promised an announcement at his next press conference, on Feb. 23.

His willingness to retain office would instantly simplify and doubtless settle the election. He can certainly have a second term if he wants it.

His refusal would complicate the election and make its outcome extremely doubtful. For on all sides, even in the highest Democratic ranks, it is admitted that Mr. Stevenson, the potential opposition candidate, would have the utmost difficulty in beating Vice-President Nixon, who is expected to lead the Republicans.

Most Canadians apparently suppose that Mr. Stevenson, a peerless campaigner and a phrase-maker of genius, could defeat any Republican except Mr. Eisenhower. This result seems to be assured by the latest Gallup polls. But it is not Washington's estimate of the prospects.

Mr. Stevenson, it should be remembered, has been campaigning quietly for some three years and actively for the last six months. Mr. Nixon perforce has remained silent.

His strongest enemies concede that if he takes the stump he will prove to be a formidable candidate and he will be backed by more money, more television time and better organization than any former candidate of other party.

Above all, he will have the ardent support of Mr. Eisenhower, whose influence has become mystical, almost supernatural.

Moreover, if the Republican Party will be terribly weakened by Mr. Eisenhower's retirement, the Democratic Party already is developing deep schisms, which Mr. Stevenson is desperately attempting to close. It is superficially split on many temporary issues but fundamentally on the

'Happy Merger' Deal Backfiring on Unions?

PARKSVILLE, B.C. (CP)—An agreement between top Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor officials, meant to launch the merger of the two bodies in complete harmony, may have the opposite effect, it was predicted here.

Donald MacDonald, CCL secretary-treasurer, told a seminar of British Columbia labor officials here Tuesday night that the TLC-CCL unity committee has agreed the draft constitution of the new 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress must be accepted without change by the merger convention.

Amendments would have to wait until the next convention, set tentatively for 1958.

Discussions among seminar delegates indicated the move would be opposed by mass-membership unions such as B.C.'s 34,000-member International Woodworkers of America and the United Steelworkers and United Auto Workers.

Delegates said large unions have most to lose under the merger agreement clause covering representation at CLEC conventions. This permits one delegate with a single vote for every 1,000 members of each union local.

A local with 8,000 members would have eight delegates, but a union with 10 locals, each containing 50 members, would be allowed 10 delegates to represent 500 persons.

R. K. Gervin, TLC vice-president and guest at the seminar, opposed the agreement to keep the CLEC constitution unchanged. He said it would lead to the challenging of Claude Jodoin, CLEC president-elect, the moment he tried to rule out any discussion of the constitution.

Charges were laid after Brian Kent, Vancouver Sun photographer, said Celona had punched him and Mr. Branca had damaged the camera after the photographer took a picture of the pair.

Mr. Branca told the court: "I believed then and still believe I had the right to prevent my picture being taken. I put out my hand and my finger caught in the range-finder of the camera."

The case was heard before Magistrate Gordon Scott.

permanent issue of civil rights for the negroes.

When the University of Alabama refused to admit a negro, Autherine J. Lucy, and a riot resulted, the United States confronted, in a new version, the deepest and most divisive issue of its life.

The Supreme Court had ruled that segregation of white and negro pupils was unconstitutional, but had suggested that desegregation must be achieved gradually, in a reasonable time. Alabama and other southern states seem determined to stretch this process over a long and perhaps unreasonable time.

The case of Miss Lucy instantly launched in Washington and in various northern states a demand for federal intervention in Alabama's affairs.

Governor Harriman, of New York, a powerful contender for the Democratic nomination, called for "vigorous" action by the national government against those who had barred Miss Lucy from the Alabama University. Senator Kefauver, another active Democratic candidate, has refused to take a definite stand on the Lucy case until he knows all the facts. A New York Democrat, representative A. C. Powell, has asked Congress to refuse any federal funds to segregated schools.

DILEMMA FOR ADLAI

In the face of these party divisions Mr. Stevenson has proposed that the segregation issue be removed entirely from the election campaign lest it set "section against section and race against race." As an historian Mr. Stevenson evidently sees this issue splitting not only his party but his nation.

If the Democrats follow Mr. Stevenson's advice and leave the negro problem to settle itself gradually and peaceably, it does not follow that the Republicans will do the same. They have no hope of winning in the solid south, where desegregation is political dynamite, but by pressing for early desegregation, they can hope to win millions of negro votes in the north.

It will be extremely difficult, therefore, to keep desegregation out of the campaign which is bound to be bitter enough in any case.

No other issue of major importance has yet appeared. That is the Democrats' chief weakness—they cannot find a big enough stick with which to beat the Republican administration. The semblance of peace and the reality of prosperous times provide the worst possible climate for an opposition party.

IKE IN DRIVER'S SEAT

Hence, lacking anything better, the Democrats are playing up the farm issue by promising the farm states prices at 90 per cent of parity, while the president insists on flexible price supports.

Fixed parity has been approved by the agricultural committee of the Senate and probably will be voted by the whole Congress. By vetoing such legislation the president would quarrel with the farmers and gravely undermine any Republican candidate but himself. By approving the legislation as the will of Congress—even though he is opposed to it—he would undermine the Democrats' only effective issue. Incidentally, he would promote continuing farm surpluses by encouraging excessive production, and thus would worsen Canada's farm problem.

Since there are no clear issues—except, perhaps desegregation—the election will be settled mainly by personalities, as the last election was settled almost entirely by the personality of Mr. Eisenhower.

He can win merely by accepting nomination and asking for a second term. Mr. Nixon, apparently his favorite successor, would have to fight every inch of the way from spring to November. So would Mr. Stevenson, who is fighting furiously already.

Would Mr. Nixon or Mr. Stevenson make the better president? At the moment that seems to be the most probable question for the American people to settle, if the president is unable to run.

Mau Didn't Write Will, Expert Says

NANAIMO — A will supposedly written by Charles R. Mau, and one of the key documents in a forgery case in Assize Court here, was not written by Mau, according to a handwriting expert.

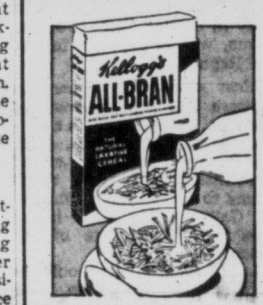

Thomas Richards Duckworth, examiner of documents for the past 30 years, testified at the trial here Tuesday of Mrs. Frances Maud Steele, proprietor of a nursing home on Maple Bay road, in Duncan.

Mrs. Steele is charged with forgery of a will and two other documents.

The sum of $75,000 is involved.

She told police she found the will in Mau's clothing a month after he died, Nov. 7, 1954, in King's Daughters' Hospital. He had been in Mrs. Steele's home since August, 1954.

Wheat Sale to Russia Still Being Negotiated

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times' Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Trade negotiations between a Russian delegation and Canadian representatives here almost collapsed as a result of press stories carried across Canada predicting that "millions of dollars of wheat" would be taken by the U.S.S.R. government sources said Wednesday.

Quantities of wheat Russia might undertake to purchase from Canada in return for lower tariff concessions in this country have not been agreed upon, it was stressed.

The great difficulties involved in carrying on such difficult and delicate negotiations under the hot glare of publicity was emphasized by authorities here. They said that the report last week carried by The Canadian Press that Russia would take many millions of dollars worth of wheat under the deal, which was reported as "nearing a final stage," was not accurate and had repercussions which almost led to a breakdown in the negotiations.

Another report that additional Russians were coming to Ottawa to increase the trade delegation has proved untrue. None have come and none are expected.

Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, told the Commons Tuesday, "The stories in question, insofar as the shipment of wheat was concerned, were inaccurate in a number of important respects." He was referring to a Canadian Press report published Feb. 10, Earlier, Prime Minister St. Laurent said he could not say when the negotiations would be finalized. He said they had not reached a point where it would be appropriate to make any comment on the suggestion that large quantities of wheat would be taken by the Russians.

All that is known is, that Canada is seeking a firm commitment from Russia to take certain quantities of Canadian produce and goods, including wheat, in return for the lower tariff concessions.

Sen. Reid Opposes Fraser Dam Projects

(From Times News Services)

Senator Thomas Reid said Tuesday night if power interests are permitted to build proposed dams on the Fraser river system in British Columbia the river's $25,000,000-a-year salmon industry will be wiped out.

The B.C. Liberal, who is Canadian chairman of the U.S.-Canada international Pacific salmon fisheries commission, challenged claims by power interests that they have found a way to get salmon fingerlings safely over dams on their way to the sea.

"They are making claims that I say are utterly false and misleading," he told the Senate in the throne speech debate. "We

Migration Delay Fatal to Sockeye

Dams, even if provided with fishways, delayed salmon going up-stream to spawn. Any appreciable delay in this migration was fatal to the sockeye which wouldn't lay their eggs until they reached the grounds where they were spawned.

"If they build 10 dams on the Fraser system it means a wiping out of the sockeye industry," Senator Reid declared.

He said commission scientists also are fearful of harm to the fishing industry should plans go forward for a channelling of Columbia River water into the Fraser system. The Columbia was a glacial river whose waters had little plankton—which fish eat—and the effects this might create on the salmon were unknown.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner and CCF leader Coldwell tangled Tuesday in a sequel to Monday's dispute over changes in Hansard—official verbatim record of House debates.

The result was a request by Mr. Coldwell to have the record corrected if he had been wrong in a statement Monday.

He said Monday Mr. Gardiner "had pursued the former editor of Hansard with letters of criticism almost until he went to his grave" because of a change in Hansard by a CCF member in 1948.

Tuesday Mr. Gardiner, on a point of privilege, said he had not written to the then editor—Earl Young, who died in 1952—but merely wrote one letter to Arthur Beauchesne, then clerk of the Commons. He tabled the letter and Mr. Beauchesne's reply.

Mr. Gardiner said his letter had taken issue with an insertion, made by a Hansard assistant editor at the request of Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre), to indicate that on April 22, 1948, Mr. Coldwell had tried to speak in a

Hit-Run Driver Gives Self Up At Vancouver

Conscience-Stricken Man Phones Police

VANCOUVER (CP).—A 44-year-old carpenter told police Tuesday his conscience drove him to surrender and bring an end to the search for the driver of a hit and run car.

Murray A. McKenzie, who was remanded on $1,000 bail, told police:

"I couldn't live with myself. I've been in agony all day."

Police said McKenzie telephoned them and gave them his Yukon street address.

Victim of the accident, Alex Findlay, still had not regained consciousness. Doctors gave him only a 50-50 chance of living.

McKenzie appeared briefly before Magistrate Gordon Scott late Tuesday afternoon and was charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Findlay, unemployed, was struck down at an intersection near Exhibition Park.

Police said McKenzie telephoned the complaint department and told them he would come to the police station and give himself up.

A constable from the hit-and-run detail, however, was sent to the address because McKenzie sounded "hysterical," police said.

McKenzie's car was found in a locked, windowless garage behind his home.

SECT DEATH JURY FINDING

Doctors Must Have Final Say

ENGLEHART, Ont. (CP).—A coroner's jury has recommended that doctors be given authority to administer in any way they see fit to patients in critical condition.

The jury ruled Tuesday that Mrs. Constance Grant, a Jehovah's Witness who refused a blood transfusion, died Feb. 5 of shock and loss of blood following an auto accident.

More than 200 persons crowded into a service club hall for the inquest. They heard Dr. A. W. Souter of Kikland Lake, 20 miles north of here, testify that Mrs. Grant, 25-year-old mother of five children, might have died with or without transfusion. He said an autopsy showed she suffered severe injury to the liver which caused extensive bleeding.

On the other hand, he said, her only possible hope was a transfusion.

Dr. George Gibbon, superintendent of Englehart Hospital, said he suggested a transfusion when Mrs. Grant was admitted after the accident. She refused on religious grounds.

Later, he said, when Mrs. Grant's condition became critical, he again advised a transfusion.

She said she had to see Lionel Anyan. "She said she couldn't take any transfusion unless she saw Anyan."

Mr. Anyan, Jehovah's Witness leader in Englehart, then visited Mrs. Grant.

Dr. Gibbon returned to Mrs. Grant after Mr. Anyan's visit and she was firm in her refusal of a transfusion. Mr. Grant also refused permission for a transfusion for his wife. Dr. Gibbon said: "Her condition deteriorated rapidly from then on. By 8:30 a.m. nothing whatever would have saved her."

Mr. Anyan was ordered to appear as a witness but was not called.

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative M.P. for Esquimalt, Saanich, will appear on TV Press Conference, tonight, Wednesday, at 10:30 p.m.

Firm Words From Washington

ALTHOUGH IT FALLS FAR short of the drama of the Atlantic Charter, the recent Washington Declaration of Prime Minister Eden and President Eisenhower has been likened in content to the famous wartime statement.

The reason why the greatness of the Washington Declaration has not been more forcibly brought to mind, it is argued, is that the concepts contained in it have become so familiar to us that they lack the impact of novelty. But that should not detract from the ideals expressed.

The two leaders "uphold the basic right of peoples to governments of their own choice . . . That is a primary requisite of Western democracy—it is a fundamental failure of the communist system."

In this connection the Declaration points out that in the last ten years, under British and American auspices, more than 600 million people have attained nationhood. Of these, India, Burma, Pakistan are outstanding examples. Against this record, the communist world can show only imperialist expansion and domination of neighboring lands.

The satellite states of eastern Europe—100 million people—are the sorry proof of communist policy. No Kremlin boasts of "people's democracy" and "proletarian will" can hide the facts that these populations are living under communist regimes which were imposed on them, that they have no way of expressing their opposition that will not bring swift police retaliation, that they can leave their countries only by fleeing surreptitiously.

The Declaration quotes the determination of communist rulers "to extend the practice of communism by every possible means until it encompasses the world. To this end they have used political and military force in the past. They continue to seek the same goals, and they have now added economic inducements to their other methods of penetration." There is little hope, say the Anglo-American partners, that communism will extend to new conquests the freedoms it denies to people already under its control.

And then comes the plain, direct warning: "Any free nation that may be persuaded by whatever threat, promise or enticement to embrace communism will lose its independence and its people will forfeit their rights and liberties."

That is western propaganda, if you like. But is also the truth, on the basis of all past experience of communism and its methods.

The Declaration then rejects force as a means of resolving East-West problems. "We shall never initiate violence." But the power to deter aggression must be retained; the alliance of the NATO nations must be kept strong to provide "an essential shield."

"We shall help ourselves and others to peace, freedom and social progress, maintaining human rights where they are already secure, defending them when they are in peril, and peacefully restoring them where they have been temporarily lost."

That is a program of action that can have far-reaching consequences. There is no so-called appeasement, nor is there any blustering. But there is determination and firmness, encouragement and fair warning.

Last weekend's angry outburst by a Soviet air marshal, warning the West that Western atomic attacks would bring swift retaliation that would turn British and European cities into a "radioactive desert," was no doubt the Kremlin's reply to the words from Washington.

Mr. Bulganin's earlier letters to President Eisenhower proposing a Russo-American pact; Mr. Khrushchev's anti-Western diatribes while in India, and his warning to External Affairs Minister Pearson in Moscow to get Canada out of NATO—all these are manifestations of Soviet fear of Western firmness. They are likewise potent reasons for Western retention of all the defensive strength we can muster.

Irresponsible Talk

MRS. LYDIA ARSENS, SOCIAL Credit MLA for Victoria, varies her career as a restaurant operator by advising the medical profession of North America on the scientific details of their work.

Of late weeks she has seen fit to quarrel with the medical and dental societies of this continent over the question of fluoridation of the water supply as a protection for children's teeth. Encouraged by the support of a few other "experts" in this field, Mrs. Arsens has now launched out on further medical revelations.

This week in the Legislature she announced that a "cure" for cancer is available. This comes as a complete surprise to all qualified medical men, particularly those who have devoted their lives to intensive study of the cause and treatment of cancer. They are unanimous in their opinion that cancer has not yet been conquered. This unanimity, of course, cannot be expected to influence the judgment of Mrs. Lydia Arsens.

If only her own beliefs were concerned, her wild statements would occasion no more than a laugh. But the harm is obvious when sufferers from cancer, or those who care for afflicted relatives and friends, become tortured with the thought that they are not doing all that might be done, and consequently are moved to consult quacks and follow half-baked theories in seeking relief.

Mrs. Arsens has done a gross disservice to her position as an MLA in propagating such nonsense. Can she not confine her political utterances to political matters?

An Idea to Rest in Peace

ALD. GEOFFREY EDGELOW has taken the only possible course in withdrawing his motion that Ross Bay Cemetery be converted into a playground, with removal of graves to Royal Oak.

Such a proposal could only violate the sensibilities of hundreds of citizens whose loved ones and antecedents have been buried there. Whether or not legal action could be instituted to move the graves, at this time the plan merely created indignation among most of our citizens.

Why, in any event, a park in that location? Diagonally across the road from the northeast corner of the cemetery is Hollywood Park, an excellent playground, complete with a field large enough for football or soccer, together with tennis courts.

The suggestion is advanced that conversion of the cemetery would establish a recreation area immediately adjacent to an excellent beach. Aldermen investigating that possibility would find signs on Ross Bay warning bathers away from water polluted by the sewer outfall there.

Of course the waterfront itself should be developed. A first step in that direction would be treatment of the sewer discharge to render it harmless. Once the water has been made safe, the beach could come into its own. And those wishing to swing from seaside to park recreation could satisfy their whim by a walk of somewhat less than five minutes.

Perhaps something more constructive might emerge from the committee which originally proposed the change if it were to concentrate on the protection of existing parks. They need defenders. Then the Ross Bay scheme could be decently laid away under a metaphorical headstone marked R.I.P.

Life Is Losing Its Lustre

ONE BY ONE OUR MOST CHERISHED beliefs are toppling. Only the other day two scientists "proved" that the lost continent of Atlantis never existed. Many of us may have had an occasional doubt about Atlantis. Its loss has not been felt too keenly. But the lemmings are different.

As long as memory reaches back the lemmings have been one of nature's major attractions. "As children, all of us have heard how these little creatures set off periodically in their thousands to migrate, how they come to the sea and plunge in, swimming away from shore in a great mass suicide. An inexplicable phenomenon, a thrilling cosmic mystery.

The attempted explanations have been many, including the thought-provoking idea that the lemmings in their periodic death-swim are obey-ing some deep racial urge which in former eras led them to journey by sea to some land mass which does not exist today.

But what of this fine fact now? All bunk, say the experts, pure fantasy. The lemmings, they explain, breed very rapidly, deplete their feeding grounds and have to move on. If the moving hordes happen to come near the seashore during their migration some may fall in. But it's entirely by accident, unless they are trying to swim across a bay or fjord to get to the green fields on the other side. Strictly from hunger, it is; no racial urge, no cosmic mystery.

So dies another curious belief—drowned, like the lemmings, not by any intriguing, sinister force, but merely incidentally, while trying to reach the green fields, and the truth, on the opposite side of the bay.

Still Trying for an Excuse

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

DID you ever hear about the big theatrical riots in New York in 1949? I didn't, till last night, and I was fascinated. Charmed all to bits. I was. The English actor Macready was visiting the United States, and a very hot reception was arranged for him by the American actor Forrest, who was insane with jealousy. In each town there would be hired ruffians in the audience to make things unpleasant for the Englishman. "Unpleasant" is rather a feeble word. They threw copper coins at him, and they also threw eggs, lemons, apples, pieces of wood, asafetida, and a great supply of chairs. At the final riots, in New York, they found loose paving-stones in the street outside, and these they threw into the theatre.

It is very disconcerting to be seated in a theatre into which loose paving stones are hurtling from outdoors, and even worse to be acting there. However, the paving stones were only a small detail that night, and probably seemed mere confetti to some of the other goings-on.

FOR example, on that final night in New York, the night of the pavingstones, four men began rioting the minute the curtain went up. Being only a foursome they were easily identified by the police, who were there in good numbers, and they were locked up in a room under the theatre. Here they set about lighting a bonfire, though it was a failure, their intentions were very large-scale stuff indeed. Hardly anybody lights a bonfire beneath a theatre while the play is going on.

Against the wishes of his company, Macready finished the play. The rioters then decided to kill him. I shouldn't think Mr. Forrest had hired anyone to do that. It was just a sudden whim. The crowds got bigger and more out of hand, before and after Macready was smuggled away, and after firing innumerable volleys over the heads of the mob, the soldiers finally had to kill twenty rioters. Yes, kill them . . . these amateur critics. There were infantry and cavalry and two brass cannon on the scene. Cannon loaded with grape-shot.

IT had been fairly easy for Forrest to stir up a rabble against Macready. Forrest told everyone that Macready had been to blame for making the English hate Forrest, on a recent tour of his. This was untrue. But unfortunately it was all too true that Dickens had dedicated "Nicholas Nickleby" to Macready, and this was enough to make the actor poisonous to American minds inflamed by the novel.

Well, you can read all about that, and much more, in a recent and excellent life of Macready by J. C. Trewin, the distinguished English critic. I merely wanted to mention what happened at the riots, and what caused them. My favorite incident occurred at Cincinnati, before the New York climax. Here one of Mr. Forrest's amateur critics threw half a raw sheep onto the stage, to express his opinion of the vile Englishman Macready. The play was "Hamlet," but I don't see any connection. Sir John Square suggests that the sheepthrower had heard the French saying about sleep being one form of criticism, and had mistaken the word for "sheep". Perhaps so. But perhaps he was merely casting built-in sheep's eyes at the beauteous majesty of Denmark.

PELTED OFF THE STAGE INCIDENTALLY, the hobby of throwing things at actors has just about died away. There is no denying that it is funny. But it is funny because it is so crazy to find serious-minded grown-ups doing it. It used to be considered a great joke on the actor, and not a joke on the half-wits who threw the groceries and the dead puppies and rats and things onto the stage.

Nor was it wholly funny, of course. No mob is wholly funny. It is rather frightening to find a bully gone temporarily mad, even if he is only throwing eggs at a defenceless actor. In a way you could call this savage, hysterical, desperately unfair sadism, a small and symbolic form of lynching. It is no accident that a mob which began with throwing things at Macready could end by deciding to lynch him. It is an unusual conclusion, but not an unconnected one.

I AM not ashamed of many of the pranks of my youth, however ashamed I may be of the more serious and well-meant deeds. Many of my pranks were a fair criticism of society, or a necessary escape-valve, or exercises for the imagination (and afterwards for the legs too). But I will always remain ashamed of the time I fired lead-paper pellets at the actors on the stage of the old Avenue Theatre in Vancouver. (They were playing "Macbeth," as Macready was that night in New York, and I was supporting cast included infantry, cavalry and two cannon charged with grape-shot.) It is all very well to say children don't know what they're doing . . . that they're not really brutal. Sometimes their desire to inflict pain is something I would not care to overlook too charitably. And their tendency to regard pain as funny can also stand a little correction . . . painful correction, if necessary.

To say that anyone is unconscious of sin is now regarded as a complete excuse. But all it means is that the person is vicious instead of sinful. That's what vice is . . . a crime or a sin (or both) done in ignorance. Me, I think I'd rather be sinful than vicious. At any rate, I'm still sorry about those lead-paper pellets.

As Our Readers See It

PARTY FUNDS

Those who have taken part in any public organization know that it is almost impossible to get more than about ten per cent of the membership to attend meetings and share in making the decisions and carrying out the tasks which fall to that minute minority which actually carries the load.

Trade unions, veterans' movements and political parties all suffer from the apathy of the rank and file. The complex society we now live in was built by a minority of entrepreneurs who raised the capital and made the decisions which brought into existence the massive industrial machine which provides us with the highest standard of living in the world.

If the wage worker cared to spend one fifth of the money he spends on tobacco on the support of a press and a political party devoted to his own interests he could rule the roost. It is fortunate that money is available to finance the parties now in power. If parties disappeared and we returned to the faked struggle between factions and cliques for the fruits of public office the general public would soon realize what they had lost.

The day may come when the average man will take the trouble to understand the society he now inhabits but until then we had better be thankful that money is available to maintain the political parties which govern our affairs today.

CARL FALLAS.

3041 Donald Street.

BUT WOULD PEOPLE DO IT?

Two more top-level authorities have been added recently to the growing multitude of the allegedly "emotionally disturbed and uninformed" who do not happen to be in favor of fluoridation of public water supplies.

These two gentlemen are no less than professors in the colleges of dental learning, to wit: Dr. A. Allen London, head of the New Jersey section of the American Academy of Dental Medicine, and Dr. William Wolf, clinical professor of New York University's Dental School, who both agree on the doubtful safety of the fluoridation program and the questionable validity of the statistics supposed to prove a reduction in tooth decay.

Quoting these two experts: "If one fraction of the time, money and effort spent on fluoridation were spent in properly educating people as to the types of food that have a great deal to do with decay, then we could reduce decay a great deal more than by an added chemical in water—and a toxic chemical at that."

Each new name added to the list of experts disapproving of fluoridation strengthens the conviction that to fluoridate in haste will mean certainly repenting at leisure.

IN FULL COMMAND?

That announcement made by one of Russia's top military officials a week ago that in just a few hours Russia possessed the power to reduce all of Europe including Britain to a state of nuclear desert, while being the most significant item of news ever to be flashed across the mass vision media scarcely a ripple in human consciousness. And we know that America likewise is possessed of equal if not greater destructive power.

That knowledge means that primitive man's ideas of force and power in his self-created supernatural gods and his dependence upon them for his survival can now be relegated to the discard as purely whole cloth and nothing but myth.

With the power and possibility of human extinction as pictured and as definitely known, human survival is in human hands alone. Man must decide his own fate.

L. J. PEPPER.

EXPEDIENT

To the objective reader of several daily newspapers it becomes daily more apparent that the use of expediency by the Soviet government is reaching alarming proportions, connoting fear and a strange haste, especially at a time when an election is not yet announced. Its use is the antithesis of dignified and responsible government during session, the complete negation of democratic procedure which implies security and honest dealings, amongst other things.

Premier Beria's frequent repetition of shouting of "Smear," directed at the opposition, during debate, while it appears to reveal also his old dependence upon Hitlerite tactics, as he clumsily endeavors thus to fling upon others his own "sheep's clothing."

Good roads and welfare states are excellent, but the government must have health, sanity and truth, and it must travel proudly in full view of all on a "high level" highway of its own making. Such is not the Soviet "Road."

From the Horse's Mouth

BY JOSEPH AND STEWART

THERE is, of course, only one topic of conversation in Washington these days—the great personal political drama of the President's decision. The following quotations from many persons with access to the President, or access to the facts on which he will base his decision, are as nearly accurate as memory will permit. They may serve to convey something of the flavor of the drama, and something as well of the background of the President's decision.

"Talk about it? Of course he talks about it. He talks about it all the time, just like anybody in his situation would. He's very frank about his health for instance, just the way he is at the press conferences. But he goes a little further maybe. He's been having a little burburtis in the elbow again, and of course he worries. Just like any coronary would, whether it's likely to do with his heart. If he wakes up in the morning feeling a little lousy, he worries too. Don't get me wrong—I'm not worrying about himself, but about the effects on the country. But if the doctors don't say no, I think he'll run."

"Ike was really burned up about Truman's speech calling him a part-time President—all we need is one more speech like that, and Ike is sure to run."

INSIDE INFORMATION

"Three to two? Why I'll give you five to one he'll run—but maybe that's not fair, because I know something I can't tell you."

"Well, he talks in private very much the way he does in public, except for one thing. He puts a lot of emphasis on what he calls the negative factors, just the way he does at the press conferences. But Ike's a modest man, and he could never bring himself to say that the Eisenhower program will probably go down the drain if he steps out, or that his prestige and world position are important to peace. But he can indicate these positive factors much more when he's talking to friends than in public press conferences."

"Yes, he's going to run—definitely. I got it from a friend of mine who knows a general who sat next to Mamie's sister or mother or something at a party."

"The said he was going to consult his friends and advisers, and that's just what he's doing. Now you name me one who will advise him not to run—Adams? Shanley? Persons? Gruenther? Clay?"

ALSO, From Washington Robinson? Hall? Allen? Go ahead, name just one."

"Certainly he's talked about Nixon. When people tell him Nixon will be a drag on the ticket, he just looks sad and says he can't understand it—as a matter of fact, I can't understand it myself. Nixon has been a fine vice-president. Anyway, now he's definitely made up his mind not to drop Nixon. Significant that he should have considered it? Of course it is."

"I'll tell you the real key man—George Humphrey. Ike inclines to run, if the doctors give him the okay. But he's being perfectly honest when he says he hasn't made up his mind yet. After the doctors examined him, the President's going to take about ten days to think over the whole problem in the sunshine at George Humphrey's place in Georgia—he's going to play a little golf for the first time, if the doctors say it's okay. He's sure to turn to Humphrey for advice—he always has. And he's almost always taken Humphrey's advice."

ANOTHER IF

"Take Len Hall. Hall's the smartest national chairman since Jim Farley. He's said right along that the President will run, but a medical setback, and he is obviously making his campaign plans on that assumption. Hall sees the President regularly, and he's not a man to get out on a limb that's going to be sawed off."

"Who plays devil's advocate? Ike is his own devil's advocate. At the drop of a hat, he'll tell you all the reasons why he shouldn't run. But he was his own devil's advocate in 1952, when he told all comers that a professional soldier shouldn't go to the White House, and the issue never really came up in the campaign. The more pessimistic he is in public, the more sure I am that he's going to run."

And so it goes. All the "informed speculation" from Washington is based on such remarks as those recorded above.

As they suggest, there has been a recent upsurge of confidence among the President's associates, and among Republican politicians generally that the President will run. Against this there must be weighed a clear element of wishful thinking. Overall, a picture emerges of a troubled man still wrestling earnestly with an agonizingly difficult personal decision which will profoundly affect the political future of the United States, and of the world.

Neighborly Apprehension

Satire from T.R.B.'s "Washington Wire" in The New Republic

THE real danger to American institutions comes, we always insist, not from Russia but Canada. How the self-appointed guardians of this republic can remain blind to the subversive goings-on to the north of us we really can't guess. It can never be said, however, that this lonely but patriotic column did not point out the peril. Why, in Canada they actually give the Salk vaccine free! Canada has the "baby bonus" plan for all mothers irrespective of wealth; it insures workers against unemployment; it gives everybody over 70 a $40-a-month old age pension. It has the effrontery to do this and have a dollar worth more than the U.S. dollar. But now worse is to come.

While Ike backs away from his own former health-reinsurance program and offers substantially less than the $400 million-a-year insurance budget advocated by that dangerous "Red," the late Robert A. Taft, the Canadians are just about ready for Dominion-wide health insurance. British Columbia and Saskatchewan already provide it with full, free hospital service for all citizens. If this isn't Socialism infiltration, we don't know the thing.

The Ottawa government now proposes to match the cost, 50-50, with all provinces that come into the national system. Here is a challenge to one of the most cherished privileges in the U.S.A.—the right of a poor man to die without hospital care if he can't afford it! Where are the NAM, the DAR, the AMA? So worried with Russia, we assume, that they are unaware of the peril at this very door.

CANBERRA (Reuters) — The Australian government has served notice that it will institute an inquiry and possibly a referendum on the constitutional problem posed by December's election here, in which the government held the Lower House but lost control of the Senate.

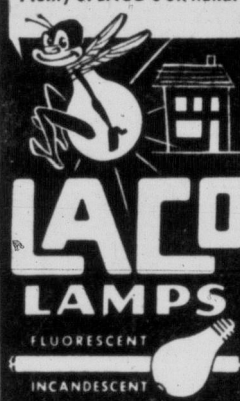

With traditional ceremony, Governor-General Sir William Slim today opened Australia's 22nd Parliament with the Speech from the Throne outlining government policy.

The speech said the government faces a situation in which, with a substantially increased majority in the House of Representatives following the December poll, its majority in the Senate will disappear

Canadian Gas Plan Opposed

Washington Hearings Begin On Canada-U.S. Interchange

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON (CP)—Vigorous opposition developed Tuesday before the Federal Power Commission to a proposal to import gas from Canada's projected Trans-Canada pipeline and market it in the U.S. north-central states region.

The objections came as the commission opened hearings on an application by Midwestern Gas Transmission Company for authority to import 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the Canadian line at Emerson, Minn., and sell it in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The opposition from U.S. utility and pipeline companies already servicing that area, produced charges that Midwestern was openly preparing to "raid" their territory and that its supplies would depend on a foreign company—the Trans-Canada line—which had no line in existence, few firm supply contracts and no markets.

Also before the commission was a companion proposal by Midwestern's affiliate, Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, to export 87,000,000 cubic feet of American gas daily to Canada via Niagara Falls to help build up a market in the Montreal area. This supply would continue until the Trans-Canada line was completed into eastern Canada.

SEEKS EXPANSION

Meantime, a fresh attempt to block the Midwestern plan came when the Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America filed a proposal to expand its pipeline network and bring U.S. Rocky mountain sources of natural gas into its north-central market. It said it plans to add 435,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily to its system.

More than 125 groups, including municipalities, utilities and pipeline companies, have intervened in the Midwestern case, one of the most hotly-contested in the commission's history.

H. S. Littman, representing both Midwestern and Tennessee, told the commission Midwestern, with the 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas it would receive from Canada and another 200,000,000 to be provided by Tennessee, proposes to serve the natural gas requirements of 125 communities in the north-central states. None had been able to obtain supplies from existing pipelines in the area.

Turning to the projected Canadian line, he said the integration of the natural gas reserves of Canada and the United States is "desirable from the standpoint of their peacetime economy as well as national defence."

Shooting Control Scheme Rejected

Central Saanich Council Reviews Abuses Practiced by Hunters

SAANICHTON—Central Saanich council Tuesday night turned down a recommendation forwarded through the police commission that indiscriminate hunting on the peninsula come under more adequate control.

It was suggested that farm lands be pooled for the purpose, with the consent of farmers, in order to maintain a closer check on trespassing hunters.

The proposal came from the B.C. Game Association, suggesting issuance of identification cards with the license, and the guarantee by the association that the farmer would get compensation for any property damage.

Central Saanich has hinted previously of complete hunting closure if the abuses practiced by certain hunters continue to harass the farmers.

Reeve H. R. Brown said that under the terms of the by-law the hunters had to be caught in the act of shooting, and more police would be required to enforce the law.

Coun. Harry Peard suggested that the by-law be amended to read "shooting and hunting," contending the addition would make the by-law "100 per cent enforceable."

Coun. Peter Warren recounted a recent experience when he came across two Saanich policemen on his Martindale Road property shooting ducks.

When asked what they were doing on his land, they told him they were "policing the property."

Coun. Ray Lamont wanted to know if hunters did any real damage.

"They are shooting before and after hours," Coun. Warren said. "They hide in the ditches waiting for the last shot, and the climb over my fences to get the birds."

Introduction of a pound by-law was broached by council, following consideration of a lengthy brief submitted by the legal firm of Harrison and Anderson, the municipality's solicitors.

The whole question of reviving dogs and horses was discussed, and Reeve Brown spoke against the inclusion of dogs in such a pound by-law.

"As far as I'm concerned," he said, "dogs are out."

"Hunters will be asking why," said Coun. Lamont. Council has shied away from a pound by-law in the past, mainly because of the expense involved in maintaining a pound.

Award Presented Church Treasurer

MILL BAY—A lapel pin was presented to Mrs. Alex Brander at the regular meeting of Mill Bay United Church WA in appreciation of her four years of service as treasurer.

She will leave the district shortly. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. Findlayson.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

CAYCUSE—Noting the controversy here and there over the question of a return to the three-year senior high school course, I wonder if the age of the graduating student has been considered.

Seems that, even with the additional year that we now have, a lot of the youngsters are being graduated at 17. Not all can or wish to go on to a university or college, and some of the boys we know have had difficulty securing positions in town. They're told to come back when they're older, the inference being that 17 is too tender an age to grasp the intricacies of the business world.

They turn to a labor job, for which they're obviously not suited or they would have sought that type of work in the first place. The future's small, barring some exceptional cases, but the wages look good so they remain on that job. But time goes quickly by, and they suddenly find too many years on them to change.

In not a few of the women's professions training doesn't commence until a girl reaches her 18th birthday. Nursing is one such profession. The girls take clerking or other jobs to fill in the time gap, and often stay right where they are, with the resultant loss of a much-needed future nurse.

I think that in the majority of cases the three-year course turns the kids out too young—those who don't want or lack the opportunity to go on to further academic education.

I looked up the origin of St. Valentine's Day, expecting a pretty thing, all hearts and flowers. Sorry, sweethearts, yesterday wasn't an excuse to send frilly cards with anonymous love to that certain someone—just happens to be the feast day of eight Christian martyrs, all named Valentine.

But cheer up. That was 'way back in medieval days, and the story goes, a springtime festival of the ancient Romans, the feast of the Lupercalia, fell around that romantic February date. So the happy festival inspired the giving of gifts which were called valentines from the name given the day. And who are we to change the old order by being so literal.

From the sublime to the ridiculous—this wrestling we see on TV occasionally—ugh! All that grinding, bumping, writhing, sweating grossness of flesh—that sport? I break into hearty laughter to cover a feeling of revulsion. Never have I seen so many men lose so much dignity for so little reason.

Mill Bay Church Elects Stewards

MILL BAY—J. G. Rodger was named chairman of the board of stewards of Mill Bay church at the annual meeting here.

Deputy chairman is F. A. Holobon. Mrs. D. Keir is treasurer and Miss Eva Dann is secretary and envelope steward. Mr. Holobon and Miss Dann will serve three-year terms on the board and T. Wolfe will serve for one year.

The meeting was preceded by a dinner in the church hall, sponsored by the WA and convened by Mrs. G. Rodgers. The H.C. group from Shawinigan Lake waited on guests and after dinner Mrs. W. Wicks entertained youngsters in the church hall while the adults attended the meeting.

ISLAND DIGEST

MLA Deplores Bed Shortage For Oldsters

Twenty-five per cent of the patients in Nanaimo Hospital shouldn't be there, Dr. Larry Giovando (Ind.—Nanaimo-Islands) told the Legislature Tuesday.

It wasn't the doctors' fault, Dr. Giovando said. There were many old people occupying beds because they had no place else to go.

"What are you going to do with these people?" he asked.

Dr. Giovando said there was a hospital bed shortage in Nanaimo and said there should be a convalescent hospital in the district.

He also urged building a hospital on the Gulf Islands. He spoke highly of the Gorge Road Hospital in Victoria, saying there was none like it in B.C., and urged all MLAs to visit the 104-bed home.

Credit Union Applications Show Gain

SIDNEY—Loan applications of Saanich Peninsula Credit Union amounted to $66,809.33 in 1955, or $28,000 more than in the previous year, it was announced at the seventh annual meeting of the union here.

Assets at the end of the year totalled $88,198.

It was reported that, of the 461 members of the branch, 255 are children whose contributions total $5,572. Last year both Mount Newton and Brentwood schools started savings clubs for students.

Recommendation of the directors for a 3 per cent dividend on savings was adopted.

New officers elected were W. R. Kimmerley, president; Mrs. W. Todd, vice-president; E. Logan and N. Shillito, three-year directors; T. W. Curly and C. S. Hills, two-year directors; W. B. Mutch, three-year member of the supervisory committee; and R. Shillito, three-year member of the credit committee.

Chemainus Vicar Makes Appeal For Church Faith

CHEMAINUS—Vicar Alan Howes called for "an intensified evangelistic effort" during the coming year, in addressing parishioners at the annual meeting of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church.

This did not mean going about from house to house ringing doorbells, he said, but rather "the mobilizing of the forces of the church and an all-out effort of the church people to learn more about faith and the living of Christianity."

Officers elected were: People's warden, Reg Harwood; church committee, Harry Olsen, Thomas Young, Miss M. Clayton, Mrs. F. Deacon, Mrs. F. R. Sadd, Mrs. F. Fearman, Mrs. T. Coates, Mrs. G. Vater, Mrs. G. C. James and Mrs. W. Latta; synod delegate, Mr. Harwood.

Comox MLA Demands Abolition of Hanging

Hanging as a form of capital punishment is a "relic from the dark ages," William Moore (CCF-Comox), said in the legislature Tuesday in a demand for its abolition.

It was not the system of capital punishment he objected to, he told Attorney-General Robert Bonner, but the "technique."

"In our slaughter houses there are more humane means of putting animals out of their misery than we adopt with people who run afoul of the law," he said.

"When a judge sentences a man to death by hanging he does not sentence him to death by torture. In 100 years people will look upon us as barbarians for hanging criminals."

Mr. Moore called it an "antiquated, vindictive and revengeful form of capital punishment." He called upon the government to inform Ottawa that B.C. is against this form of capital punishment, and to recommend its abolition.

IWA Enrolls Candidate For Labor Office

PARKSVILLE (CP)—Donald MacDonald, Canadian Congress of Labor secretary-treasurer, has been granted membership in a Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America CCL to preserve his post under a union technicality.

Mr. MacDonald, expelled from the United Mine Workers after the miners were ousted from the CCL, would otherwise have been forced to resign his office.

The new Canadian Labor Congress, to be formed April 23 by the Trades and Labor Congress-CCL merger, will name Mr. MacDonald secretary-treasurer, it was reported here Tuesday.

Special thanks were accorded Mrs. R. Shelton and Mrs. W. Cuthers for acting as temporary secretary and treasurer respectively. Mrs. Mary Peersless reported on the district council meeting held at Youbou.

4 Pilots Die As Aircraft Loses Wing

Plunges 5,000 Feet
On to Ontario Farm

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian test pilot and three United States Army pilots were killed Tuesday when their single-engine aircraft lost a wing and plunged 5,000 feet into a snow-covered farm.

The pilot was identified as William Ferderber, 35, of Toronto, father of three children, wartime Spitfire ace and DFC winner. He was a pilot four years for de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd., makers of the light Otter aircraft. The United States pilots, who arrived here Monday for training on the Otter, were not identified.

D. Wilken Gordon said he was visiting a farm in the area near Downsview airport, just north of Toronto, when he heard the aircraft overhead.

"I looked up and saw its port wing just folding away in pieces. The plane started to spiral down."

Another eye-witness said he saw the aircraft twisting to earth and "three other pieces of the plane were following it down."

De Havilland officials said the khaki-painted Otter was one of nearly 100 purchased by the U.S. Army and the U.S. Navy for light transport, ambulance and liaison missions.

TORY MAJORITIES SLASHED

Voters Jolt Eden But Back His Men

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden's government received a jolt today when results of voting in two of three parliamentary by-elections showed a drop in electoral support.

In a straight fight at Taunton, Somersetshire, the Conservatives retained the seat with a majority of only 67 votes, compared to a majority of 5,542 in a three-cornered contest at the general election last year.

At Hereford, in west England, a majority of 9,400 in 1955's three-cornered fight was cut to 2,150. Liberal Frank Owen, well-known journalist and editor who contested that seat at the general election, pushed up his vote by over 1,300 to 9,979, compared with the victor's 12,129. The Labor candidate polled only 5,277.

SHARP DROP
The most disquieting factor for the government was a sharp drop in its share of the votes at Hereford from 51.8 per cent to 44.3 per cent. Labor's share dropped from 23.4 per cent to 19.27 per cent.

At Gainsborough, Lincolnshire, the third contest, the Conservatives also retained their seat, with a majority of 1,006 in a three-way contest with Labor and Liberals. In a straight contest last year between Conservatives and Labor the government nominee's majority was 4,463.

The three contests, polled Tuesday and announced today, had been awaited by government supporters for signs of any effect the recent inflation-fighting economic "squeeze" may have had on Conservative prestige.

The by-elections, involving 150,000 voters, also provided the biggest test of popular feeling since the government was under fire for alleged indecision.

Today's results leave the standing in the 630-member House of Commons as follows: Conservatives and allies 346, Labor 276, Liberals 6, vacant 2.

Nation-Wide Appeal Made To Aid VON

Next week cities and towns across Canada will honor the Victorian Order of Nurses which has contributed much to social service and the well-being of Canadians for over 50 years.

The order which is active in Victoria and elsewhere on Vancouver Island, is widely known for its bedside nursing in individual homes and its health education program for expectant mothers.

Its public health teaching also includes well-baby clinics, school nursing and industrial nursing, each branch of the order adapting its program to the needs of the community.

Founded in 1887 by Lady Aberdeen, the wife of a former governor-general, the nursing order rapidly expanded across Canada.

Since its pioneering days when the order operated cottage hospitals, the order has established 117 branches across Canada, with a staff of 550 highly qualified nurses.

VON nurses are all graduates of accredited schools of nursing, many of whom have additional public health training. All nurses work under the direction of a doctor.

The national headquarters are located in Ottawa which provides the various branches with the newest treatments and techniques of nursing.

WHO CARES, REALLY

Monograph Subject—Fate of Paper Clip

By TONY DICKASON

In this manner, open the window and lean out. With strung Paper Clip, you can tickle necks of people on the sidewalk below; or do a tick-tack-toe routine on windows beneath. This latter pastime brings out pretty girls curious, as usual, to see who's beating on their windows.

There are individuals, with minor mental aberrations, who wittingly deface simple purity of Paper Clip, twisting Paper Clip into horrible devices, ostensibly to look like wire frames for glasses, or wire questions marks, and other idiotic art.

This type should be kept away from Paper Clip, a thing of beauty, extant.

Minds given to Paper Clip believe it will, someday, replace the golf tee in the jacket pocket. When this happens, Paper Clip will have really arrived.

But the imponderable is still this: once arrived, where does Paper Clip go?

Anybody know?

GROWING ASSETS

FREDERICTON (CP)—Assets of credit unions in New Brunswick now total nearly $10,000,000. Loans made to members during the last fiscal year reached nearly $5,000,000, a record figure.

Some people save string. Our vice is Paper Clip. Can't stand to see Paper Clip lie idly by. Have found Paper Clip use is not limited to hanging office correspondence together.

For instance, should you work in a tall office building, get a box of Paper Clip from the girl in the office. Sign for it, if you must.

Saanich Boys To Get Help From Police

Saanich police meet this week-end to plan in greater detail a police boys' club; initiated several weeks ago by a group of boys with "nothing to do" Saturday mornings.

Ranging from pre-teens to late teens, the youngsters approached Const. Harry Adams for ideas to fill in weekends, and they now have support of all members of the force and police commission.

Tentatively, it is planned to set-up a sports program, industrial tours, a fishing trip and shooting instruction.

PROVIDING MONEY

Police are putting up money for the new organization through Police Benevolent Society, but as the officers point out, full co-operation from individuals, business firms and other organizations will be needed to make the club successful.

"When the kids themselves know they need something better to do than hang around streets and eventually get mixed up in bad company, then it's up to the community to help," Const. Adams said.

"We owe it to ourselves as well as to them, and we'd be sadly lacking if we did nothing."

Birthplace Of B.C. to Be Rebuilt

Proposed as Part Of Centenary Show

British Columbia is planning to celebrate its 100th birthday party in 1958 and the restoration of its birthplace is proposed as the climax to a year of merry-making.

It was on a rainy wintry day that a handful of frock-coated gentry, a few prospectors and curious Indians watched silently as Governor James Douglas proclaimed the birth of B.C. at Fort Langley. That was on Nov. 19, 1858.

Others in the teeming trading post on the Fraser river, 20 miles from the sea, didn't give a hoot about the ceremonies. A gold rush was on, and 2,000 fortune-seekers were embroiled in a battle for a place to pitch their camp or find a grubstake.

UNNOTICED AT TIME

No celebration accompanied the declaration of mainland British Columbia as a crown colony of Britain. The San Francisco Bulletin published a brief item of the event several weeks later. Said the Bulletin: "... Few knew anything about it until the announcement was published in the Gazette."

And the first British foothold on the mainland of the west coast was not destined for further honors.

New Westminster, farther down the river, became the capital and principal port. Victoria, seat of the governor, retained its authority while Fort Langley crumbled into dust.

But two years from now, the spotlight will again be on Fort Langley—now a village of 400 fisherman and sawmill workers.

MAJOR PROJECT

There'll be a lot of enthusiastic celebrations at the historic site if plans to create the fort as it stood in 1858—stockades, officers' log quaters and all—are realized.

"It will be an atonement for the sin of our forefathers," said Alex Hope, president of the Fort Langley Restoration Society, who with provincial architect William Ireland and others has crusaded for the project for several years.

Cost is estimated at close to $500,000 but the plan has been received "favourably" by Premier Bennett and the historical sites and monuments board, said Mr. Hope.

"Western Canada and particularly B.C. has been severely neglected in the past in restoring historical sites," said the businessman-farmer and past president of the board of trade.

"And with Fort Langley, we really missed the boat."

The old fort on the muddy, surging river rushing through the fertile Fraser valley was founded in 1827 on orders of Governor George Simpson. First permanent establishment of the white man on the B.C. coast, it was considered responsible for holding the Fraser river mouth for Britain when the United States boundary was established on the 49th parallel.

It was also at Fort Langley that 12 whites with muskets put to flight a raiding party of 200 Yuculta Indians from the South and won lasting respect from native tribes.

Probe Asked Of Engineer Resignations

Fifth Official
Quits Gagliardi

A CCF MLA asked in the Legislature Tuesday for a complete investigation into reasons for a recent rash of resignations in the provincial highways department.

William Moore of Comox made the request as a fifth highways engineer submitted his resignation.

He is J. A. Millican, highways department district engineer for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

The Comox member told the House he knows of at least one more high-level engineer who will quit this week.

Mr. Moore suggested a joint probe by the Civil Service Commission and the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

"There must be something definitely wrong," the MLA said.

PUZZLED

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said: "I can't understand it. He (Millican) was an exceptional man."

Mr. Millican said he was not dissatisfied with the highways department.

His resignation becomes effective March 13. He will go into private business as resident engineer for Mid-West Copper-Velvet mine, seven miles south-west of Rossland.

The four senior men who resigned earlier this month are chief engineer Neil McCallum, paving engineer D. T. Willis, assistant paving engineer S. A. Cumliffe, and L. E. Willis, divisional engineer for Okanagan-Similkameen.

Parents Remove Door-Knobs; Children Trapped in Fire

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UP)—Police said today an army private and his wife have admitted that they had removed the door-knobs from the bedroom where two of their children were trapped in a fire Sunday.

One of the two children of Pfc. Paul J. O'Donnell and his wife, Martha, 2, was in critical condition today in Monmouth Memorial Hospital.

Surgery was required to correct a breathing condition she developed while trapped in the fire which destroyed the family's home.

Another O'Donnell child, Michael, 4, who suffered smoke poisoning in the fire, was reported in good condition at Monmouth hospital.

O'Donnell and his wife told police Tuesday they removed the door-knobs to prevent their children from slipping out of the room and hurting themselves.

Police had confronted the O'Donnells with the testimony of two baby sitters who contradicted the couple's earlier statement the knobs fell off while they tried to free the children.

Police said O'Donnell and his wife finally admitted they re-

ENGINEER BEATING POLIO

Alex Packford, a recently certificated professional engineer, recovering from polio, is shown a hand splint by Nurse Beverley Carter in Royal Jubilee Hospital. His is one of many cases that will be helped by the Polio Fund.

200 Canvassers Needed For Polio Fund 'March'

Two hundred canvassers to assist in Saturday night's B.C. Polio Fund "Mothers' March" are needed by Vic Van Isle Kinsmen as soon as possible this week.

Polio fund co-ordinator Miss Win Chivers said 2,600 mothers, Kinsmen and other volunteers have been signed up to visit Greater Victoria's estimated 20,000 dwellings in the annual hour-long drive starting at 6.30 p.m.

Last year nearly 3,000 canvassers marched on Greater Victoria and collected $45,000 toward polio treatment and rehabilitation in B.C.

Volunteers are needed particularly in the James Bay to Beacon Hill, Hillside to Cloverdale, Lansdowne to Cadboro Bay Road, and Lake Hill areas.

Also needed are volunteers with cars, whose services may be used as stop-gap measures in the event of a last-minute illness or if a canvasser is inadvertently missed.

The work of rehabilitating such polio victims as the engineer pictured above will be assisted by the fund's drive Saturday.

A former machinist, Alex Packford worked for 15 years to win his degree in mechanical engineering, finally receiving his certificate in hospital after contracting polio.

Mr. Packford will shortly be sent to the Western Society for Rehabilitation Centre in Vancouver by the Kinsmen's fund.

Spoke Once —Too Often

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A man who claimed to be a deaf mute was arrested Tuesday on a vagrancy complaint by officers who said he just talked himself into trouble.

Officers said the man introduced himself to several people who answered their doorbells, by giving them a card explaining that he was an unemployed deaf mute and needed help to support his family.

Patrolman V. L. Connell said the scheme worked fine until one woman turned the man away.

The officer said the man made the mistake of voicing his indignation at people who would "turn a deaf mute down."

Rum Popsicles Would Win Favor With Frustrated Northern MLA

It gets cold in the British Columbia northland — cold enough to freeze a bottle of rum.

Take the word of Cyril Shelford (S.O.Mineca).

The bottle was placed in the trunk of the car during a long drive and when he got home, the rum was frozen.

Mr. Shelford placed two suggestions before the Legislature: "Either put more liquor in the water or perhaps we could freeze it on sticks and sell them as popsicles at the ice cream stands."

These rugs and carpets came from Western Canada's largest and leading floor covering wholesalers. They were floor covering for this spring's selling. Some of these rugs became a little wet when a water pipe on the main floor broke. These were immediately taken to the cleaners and properly dried. In no way was their beauty and quality marred. However, the rugs were covered by insurance, so it was decided to unload the entire stock. Capital Supply were the lucky bidders. For you it means you can beautify your precious home with the finest of rugs at a saving of from 40% to 50%.

Wheat Filibuster Looms in Commons

CCF, Tories Hit Hard in Drive to Stall Ratification of Prairie Loan-Aid Bill

CP and BUP Dispatches

OTTAWA—Talk of a filibuster has worked its way into Commons debate on the government's controversial bill to ratify its guaranteed loans plan for farm-stored prairie grain.

The term cropped up Tuesday following a CCF motion to kill the measure.

Mervyn Johnson (CCF-Kin-dersley), presenting the motion which calls for reference of the matter to the Commons agriculture committee, said his party will debate the issue until "we can get some indication the government is prepared to take the action desired by the farmers."

The farmers, he argued, want cash advances on farm stocks of grain instead of the treasury-guaranteed bank loans under the government plan. Loans are for a maximum $1,500 at 5 per cent interest.

Later Trade Minister Howe flatly described the debate as a filibuster. He said adoption of the CCF motion would prevent the bill being re-introduced this session.

He added it also would mean defeat of the government and an election. That statement was greeted with opposition cheers.

G. H. Castleden (CCF, York-ton) replied: "If he (Mr. Howe) wants to have a filibuster we will show him what a filibuster is and that will completely block the legislation."

Debate, which continues today, has lasted four and a half days so far—three and a half of them on a resolution preliminary to introduction of the bill.

When the measure came up Tuesday for second reading—approval in principle—Douglas Harkness (PC, Calgary North) moved that second reading be refused and another bill be substituted to provide for cash payments on farm-stored grain in the west.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin ruled the motion out of order on technical grounds, but Mr. Johnson promptly submitted the CCF motion.

Plan 'Inadequate, Deceitful'

Mr. Maricness said the guaranteed loans plan, begun last Nov. 15, is totally inadequate to meet the cash shortage in the west.

Mr. Johnson said the bill is deceitful. The government had said it would provide short-term credit. But up to Dec. 31 only some 8,000 of the 200,000 prairie farmers had taken out loans.

Earlier in the day a return tabled by Trade Minister Howe showed 7,976 loans were made under the government's plan between Nov. 15 and Dec. 31. He said, however, that the Of the total, 3,071 were made in the two weeks of November.

A breakdown showed 3,964 loans were for less than $751; 1,820 between $751 and $1,000; and 2,192 between $1,001 and $1,500.

Gordon Churchill (PC, Winnipeg South Centre) said Mr. Howe "for once in his life" should accept Commons' advice and change the bill.

Mr. Howe said that in the bill the government "did exactly what we were asked to do" by a delegation representing west-farmers—farm organizations. The delegation from a Prairie conference in Saskatoon had suggested three ways of helping farmers get cash—through banks, the Canadian wheat board or a special organization.

He said, however, that the Of the total, 3,071 were made in the two weeks of November.

MONTREAL PRESBYTERIANS OPPOSE WOMEN MINISTERS

MONTREAL (BUP)—The Montreal presbytery of the Presbyterian church was on record today as being strongly opposed to ordaining women ministers. The church voted 41 to 2 Tuesday night against women becoming ministers and 25 to 16 against women being ordained as elders.

The vote was taken as an expression of the Montreal presbytery concerning the place of women in the church. The church's general assembly has asked all 47 Canadian presbyteries for their opinion.

BUILT ON LAVA—Catania in Sicily is built on nine layers of lava from Mount Etna, the most recent being from an eruption of 1669.

LIGHTER GEAR—Canadian factory shipments of overshoes and goloshes decreased in 1954, while light and heavy rubbers increased.

Kinettes Making Porchlight Drive

CHEMATUS—Kinsmen have appealed to householders here to turn their lights on for one hour Saturday, the night of the "Mothers' March" for polio.

The drive is being organized by members of the Kinettes Club, who, along with volunteers, will canvass the central and downtown areas.

The municipal sub-office will be headquarters for the hour long drive.

Kinsmen will hold a district-wide bottle drive the following day to wind up this year's polio drive here.

'Bread and Butter Twins'

Deputy opposition leader W. Earl Rowe tagged Trade Minister Howe and Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner, "the bread and butter twins" because "one is smothered with wheat and the other is strangled with butter."

He supplied the title during a 40-minute onslaught of biting criticism and laughter-provoking sarcasm.

Howe earlier in the day said he did not think he was earning his pay when he had to sit in the Commons and listen to opposition "blather" on the loans.

Rowe replied, during his own speech: "Never before have I seen a greater spectacle of contempt for Parliament and smug satisfaction than when I listened to (Howe's) lecture."

Turning his criticism to Gardiner, Rowe said: "No one has changed and turned more political somersaults than the minister of agriculture."

He changes his policies overnight," Rowe said that Howe and Gardiner were "befogged and bewildered and bitter" on trade and agricultural issues.

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

MIAMI (NEA)—It was, you say to yourself, only last fall that Bucky Harris was standing, as the Yankee manager, at Ebbets Field before the World Series started.

He was going to start a kid catcher, Yogi Berra, and somebody asked him about it.

"Is Berra smart enough to catch in a World Series?" the guy said.

Harris leaned toward him. "Yes," he nodded. "Doesn't look it, does he?"

You could swear that this was last fall. But the record book shows it was 1947 and Berra, then regarded as a bit of a clown, now is a competent, cute, old pro who makes over $50,000 a year at baseball and is a kind of Stan Musial or Ted Williams or anybody who has entered the "big business" ranks with baseball.

But we'll still remember Bucky Harris talking that day, because it is, in one sentence, the story of Yogi Berra.

By now, it is a well-worn tale. Everybody knows Yogi. At first, a clumsy guy who could hit the ball a mile when he got untangled.

But then came the creeping notion that Berra was more than a clown.

Paul Richards, for example, said, "He wants to make you think he's a country bumpkin. He loafs and he looks out of whack. But when the play goes, he is a cat. He runs with any infielder around. He out-thinks you. He out-hits you. He ruins you with the bat or glove. He is the difference between the Yankees and three or four other clubs."

Now at this time, Berra, the comic book reader, was catching for three Yankee hurlers—Vic Raschi, a college degree-holder; Ed Lopat, regarded as the smartest around; and Allie Reynolds, an oil man, and the players' leader.

And Berra, the comic book reader, the guy you laughed at, was calling the shots. He'd hold his hand up to stop play, then trot out to speak to Reynolds or Lopat or Raschi. And when Yogi talked, these pitchers listened.

The guy, you see, knew what he was talking about—and he knows more than ever today.

He's Come a Long Way From the Hill.

Because of this, you find it hard to regard Yogi as a big business-man now. He has a bowling alley and a chain of ice cream parlors and a lot of tax worries. You see him at the better places in town. When he plays baseball, he is what baseball writers have voted him—the league's most valuable player.

For the stumpy, comical guy who came from The Hill in St. Louis, this seems incongruous. Branch Rickey, for example, chased him away from the Cardinals. Get into something else, Rickey advised.

John Schulte, the old coach who was Joe McCarthy's right hand man with the Yankees, thought otherwise. He took Mr. Berra by the hand and made the Yankees sign him. The price? A little loose change, at most.

This for a catcher who bats over .300, knocks in over 100 runs and, in spots like the World Series of 1953, does things you can't believe.

That would be, of course, the two straight bunts the Dodgers tried with runners on first and second and a big inning brewing. On both plays, it was Berra who scrambled out to whisk the ball off the grass and on a line toward third. The runners, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo, were out on two classic catching plays.

In the seventh game last fall, you still think of Berra, swinging with a purpose on Johnny Podres. It was to louse up the Brooklyn defence and drop a hit into left field. Yogi's old-pro try was a foot shy. That was the series-saver catch Sandy Amoros made.

Today, Yogi Berra, the guy you laughed at, stands behind only Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio as the highest paid players in New York Yankee history.

Pretty fast company. But that's what Yogi is built for.

Cool $4 Million May Buy Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sale of the Cleveland Indians baseball club to a new corporation for nearly $4,000,000 was recommended to the stockholders Tuesday, president Myron H. Wilson Jr. announced.

He said the directors, who own a large majority of the stock, recommended the club be sold to a corporation headed by William R. Daley, president of the investment firm of Otis & Co.

The Daley group has offered about $3,961,800, which would be $1,550 per share of the present company, Wilson said.

He said no action was taken by the stockholders Tuesday, but the offer may be presented for a formal vote in three weeks.

Last year the Indians' owners rejected an offer of about $3,000,000.

SOLD IN 1949

The Indians were sold to the present owners Nov. 21, 1949, by Bill Veeck for about $2,200,000. The shares then were $100 each, but each shareholder had to put up about $300 of his own money as a loan. The loans since have been paid off.

Daley said his group would retain the present managers and officers, but a new post of board chairman would be created for himself.

Stockholders of the new corporation include Hank Greenberg, Indians general manager, and Ignatius A. O'Shaughnessy of St. Paul, Minn., president and owner of Globe Oil Co., and a director of the Nickel Plate Railroad. These men and Daley will own a majority of the stock.

The offer for the Indians is believed the highest ever made for a ball club.

Larry MacPhail, Dan Topping and Dan Webb bought the Yankees for $2,800,000 in 1945. That transaction included Yankee Stadium, Newark and Kansas City farms and parks. In 1953 the Yankee owners sold Yankee Stadium and the Kansas City park to Arnold Johnson for $6,500,000; and, also in 1953, Fred Saigh sold St. Louis Cardinals and the club's minor league properties to Anheuser-Busch, Inc. for $3,750,000.

John Schulte, the old coach who was Joe McCarthy's right hand man with the Yankees, thought otherwise. He took Mr. Berra by the hand and made the Yankees sign him. The price? A little loose change, at most.

This for a catcher who bats over .300, knocks in over 100 runs and, in spots like the World Series of 1953, does things you can't believe.

AT PLATEAU

Conditions Good for Ski Races

With the Forbidden Plateau Ski Club's annual races scheduled for Sunday, snow conditions at the popular winter resort are described as almost perfect.

There is an eight-foot layer of packed snow at the lodge and a good spring corn surface. The tower tow, which works on Saturday and Sunday, takes skiers to the timberline where all tree stumps are covered over by the snow. There is a 15-foot blanket of snow at the 4,000-foot level and 25 feet at the top of Mount Beecher.

The 50 members of the club will take part in the races Sunday. Racing will start at 1 and entries will be accepted until 11.

Events will be: Men's open downhill, for the Vancouver Daily Province Trophy, currently held by Noel Paul of Campbell River. Men's slalom, for the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Trophy.

Ladies' downhill, for the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Trophy, currently held by Paddy Hooper of Courtenay.

Ladies' slalom, for the Victoria Daily Times Trophy.

Subsequent events on the skiing agenda include the ski frolic for novices, Feb. 28; the Kandahar races, March 11, and the Easter weekend party, March 29.

CARL JUST DIDN'T HAVE THE HEART

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Carl Ulrich, who suffered a heart attack some months ago, refused to risk a repeat Monday night. After bowling nine strikes in a row he deliberately rolled his tenth ball into the gutter.

"I'm not taking any chances," he commented.

Ulrich wound up with a 267 and a 691 series.

World Ice Champs Face Foreclosure

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Pentiction Vs. former hockey champions of the world, may soon be without a home.

L. A. Gibbard, acting chairman of the parks board, said at a meeting Tuesday the Memorial Arena doors may be closed to the Vs.

Gibbard said the continuing inability of the Vs to pay arena rent of $175 per Okanagan Senior Hockey League game and their refusal to guarantee adjustment of arrears may force the board to stop renting the ice to the Vs.

The club owes $375 in back payment of rent, tax and "other things," Gibbard said.

Moore Signs for San Diego Bout; Will Not Defend Title in London

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—be known that both his weight Peter Waterman over American Light heavyweight boxing and objections to an English Kid Gavilan, former welter-champion Archie Moore Tuesday referee were factors in his decision to fight last week. Moore signed to meet Dave Whitlock, San Francisco, in a 10-round match at the San Diego Arena.

Prior to signing, Moore let it be known that both his weight Peter Waterman over American Light heavyweight boxing and objections to an English Kid Gavilan, former welter-champion Archie Moore Tuesday referee were factors in his decision to fight last week. Moore signed to meet Dave Whitlock, San Francisco, in a 10-round match at the San Diego Arena.

Ulrich wound up with a 267 and a 691 series.

Santee's Lawyer Threatens Suit

PORTLAND, Ore.—Jimmy Martinez, 166, Phoenix, knocked out Peter Mueller, 162, Germany (5).

B.C. Auto Dealers Optimistic; 1955 Sales Hit All-Time High

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Business Editor
Now the General Motors strike is over, British Columbia car dealers look forward to continued brisk trading in 1956.

Delegates to the Motor Dealers' Association of B.C., meeting in Vancouver today, agreed that 1955 was the most profitable auto year British Columbia has ever seen.

J. W. Sherwood, president of Vancouver Motor Dealers' Association, told the 100 delegates: "I think we may do even better in 1956, but to ensure a good year we must keep common sense uppermost in our minds."

If, as A. G. Stewart suggests, the motor cars of tomorrow are equipped with gas turbine engines, they would have to be completely redesigned.

The turbine engine would take up so little space that the size of the hood could be substantially reduced or used for baggage as was done with the German Volkswagen, which has its engine at the back.

Mr. Stewart, who is manager of the local refinery of Imperial Oil, told me he thinks the next motor car engine will be a gas turbine.

"Auto engines in the future are bound to be influenced by developments in the aviation field," he said, "and for that reason the gas turbine would be the most likely successor to the piston engine."

Mr. Stewart added, however, that he thinks the piston engine will continue to serve the auto industry for some time to come.

CARS OF TODAY
Sales of new motor vehicles in Canada soared to an all-time high of $1,255,546,000 in 1955, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The increase of $266,000,000 over 1954 resulted mainly from a sharp jump in sales of new passenger cars. Total sales of all vehicles—both cars and trucks—rose by $3,000 to record of 465,629.

NEW DEPOSITS
Two prospectors claim to have discovered uranium deposits on Porcher Island, 15 miles south of Prince Rupert, B.C.

George Fielding, 53-year-old prospector with experience in northern Labrador, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, said he and his partner, Leo Johnson, staked 46 claims on the island covering approximately 1,840 acres.

Mr. Fielding said strong readings on the geiger counter had been obtained on Porcher Island.

SHOPPING HOURS
Removal of restrictions on shopping hours is being sought in Vancouver.

The city council is to be asked to consider the possibility of eliminating not only the present Wednesday closing but all other limitations except Sunday.

The move is believed to be backed by business groups who feel the time is approaching when night shopping may be necessary if certain commercial areas are to survive.

CHEAPER INSURANCE
Rate reductions in automobile passenger liability insurance in British Columbia average 6 per cent; reductions in collision coverage rates average 16 per cent, says Keith Talley, B.C. representative of the Allstate Insurance Company.

Passenger, fire and theft coverage rates have been reduced 20 to 30 per cent, except in the Yukon Territory. Commercial comprehensive coverage rates have dropped 25 per cent.

Mr. Talley points out that his company has made Dominion

Branch Rail Lines Taxable, Says Court

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan Appeal Court has ruled that Canadian Pacific Railway branch lines in the province can be taxed by municipalities.

The judgment, affecting the status of 3,700 miles of CPR branch lines, dismissed a CPR appeal from a Queen's Bench ruling last March on three test cases brought by the railway against the town of Estevan and the rural municipalities of Swift Current and Caledonia.

In the Queen's Bench decision, the CPR won a partial victory but this was wiped out by the Appeal Court judgment which, in effect, dismissed the three cases.

The Queen's Bench judgment said all branch-line roadbeds are liable for taxation but that any branch-line installations used or required for the working of the main-line could be exempt.

Certain installations in the three municipalities were held to be exempt and others liable. The railway appealed to have the judgment varied so that all the installations and the roadbeds would be exempt.

ENTER CROSS-APPEAL
The municipalities cross-appealed to have the Queen's Bench decision varied so that all installations would be liable. The legal battle, revolved around interpretation of Clause 16 in the CPR contract ratified by Parliament in 1881:

"The Canadian Pacific Railway, and all stations and station grounds, workshops, buildings, yard and other property, rolling stock and appurtenances required and used for the construction and working thereof, and the capital stock of the company, shall be forever free from taxation by the Dominion, or by any province hereinafter established, or by any municipal corporation therein."

The Supreme Court of Canada later ruled that the clause does not exempt branch-line properties except those—if any—which are required for the construction and working of the main line.

More Stable Life For Indians Off Reserve—Amyot

Indians could lead a more stable life off the reserves if they became assimilated with the white population, Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy health minister, told the Legislature's labor committee Tuesday.

Dr. Amyot said the Indians should be encouraged to leave the reserves and join in the economic life of the majority of the people of the province.

He said educational and health programs are assisting such a transition, but the process is slow and needs patience.

Herb Garden Repays With Tasty Dishes

It would seem that men are more adventurous than women when it comes to cooking.

A brash statement, some will say, but it is a fact that more local men are interested in the use of the unusual cooking herbs than women.

The perennial herbs, sage and thyme, are used by some in stuffings for turkey and chicken, and there most women leave the subject. Men who like cooking, also like to grow and experiment with many of the annual herbs.

Hilda

They tell me that green salads are improved by adding young tips of anise, sweet marjoram and dill. Egg and potato salad doubles its interest if sweet basil and chervil are added.

Fennel, the fishermen among the cooks tell me, should be used in melted butter with any of the white fish. French tarragon, a perennial grown only from plants, goes with salmon, though some will add a little fennel also.

Garlic, grown from the seedarated "cloves", planted out now, is at its best when used between harvesting in late August and the first week of February. From now until green onions are ready we should depend on chives for fresh onion flavor. A clump of chives potted now will produce green tops in a few days if kept in a porch.

Plants of the perennial herbs may be put in any time after March 1, while the annual kinds may be sown indoors about mid-March or outdoors in early April. Sweet basil must be kept until June before setting out, since it is tender to frost and cold.

TV No Threat

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — Television has not affected Sunday night church attendance, a survey here showed. One minister said there had been a slight drop in attendance, but it could not be blamed on TV since there were only six sets among the congregation.

Linda's Ex-Friend Admits Oil Swindle

NEW YORK (UP)—A Milwaukee playboy, former friend of actress Linda Christian, pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of swindling three men of a total of $175,000 in a bogus oil deal.

Robert Schlesinger, 37, who surrendered last December in Montreal, Que., after leading authorities on a seven-nation search, pleaded guilty to two of eight counts of grand larceny.

He faces a maximum sentence of five to 10 years in jail on each count.

Schlesinger, son of the former Mrs. Harrison Williams, did not deny the accuracy of the six other charges against him when he admitted in general sessions court that he swindled Richard and John M. Herzfeld, brothers, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Robert B. McCulloch of Los Angeles.

The latter cheque figured in the Linda Christian jewelry mix-up. Van Kleef and Arpels, a Fifth avenue jewelry firm, claimed the cheque bounced.

When the firm tried to recover the gems, Miss Christian declined to surrender them, claiming they were a gift.

Bears Active
CALGARY (CP)—The bears at the zoo here don't hibernate. The captive bears are active while their cousins in the woods snooze away the winter months. Zookeeper Stewart Sluth said: "I wish they would go to sleep. They behave just like humans with a hangover."

Vic High's 'Circus' Has 'House of Horror'
Victoria High School students promise Victorians "the time of their lives." If they attend their two-day circus at the school on Feb. 17 and 18.

The circus will open at 8 p.m. and will feature a variety show, movies, dancing and a "house of horrors," for people who like horrors.

In addition, there will be stalls selling home cooking, foreign foods, preserves, jewelry, books, china, totem poles, records, toys, sporting goods, candy, clothing and other items.

Additional attractions will include a giant midway with novel games of fun and skill, bingo, and other surprises.

The pupils have also arranged to have a shoe-shine stand operated by high school maids, as well as a "Ye Olde Tea Shoppe" in honor of Merrie Englands.

Special prizes will also be awarded at the circus. Included are a radio clock, a $15 record script, a portable typewriter, cashmere sweater, wrist watch, ham, record player, and turkey.

Queen's Plate Rules Relaxed
TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Jockey Club Tuesday relaxed the rules of the Queen's Plate, Canada's richest turf prize, to allow horses to compete in more preliminary races.

In the past horses eligible for the race—worth $25,000 last year—were permitted to run only in two Plate trials. They could not race outside Canada in their three-year-old season nor in open competition against other three-year-olds.

Jockey club directors now have decided that horses in this year's 97th running at the new Woodbine race track, June 16, will be able to run in as many as six or seven races before the Plate. Races open to Queen's Plate horses will be specified in the condition books soon to be released by the jockey club.

Queen's Plate Rules Relaxed
TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Jockey Club Tuesday relaxed the rules of the Queen's Plate, Canada's richest turf prize, to allow horses to compete in more preliminary races.

In the past horses eligible for the race—worth $25,000 last year—were permitted to run only in two Plate trials. They could not race outside Canada in their three-year-old season nor in open competition against other three-year-olds.

Jockey club directors now have decided that horses in this year's 97th running at the new Woodbine race track, June 16, will be able to run in as many as six or seven races before the Plate. Races open to Queen's Plate horses will be specified in the condition books soon to be released by the jockey club.

Cobbler Opera Expert Wins $64,000 on TV

Michael Della Rocca to Devote Earnings / To Small Time Productions in Home Town

NEW YORK (UP)—Michael Della Rocca, a $50 a week shoemaker, tries on a new role for size today—$64,000 impresario.

Della Rocca, an Italian immigrant who now lives in Baldwin, N.Y., earned 25 years of cobbler pay Tuesday night by rattling through a long query on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question." His category was opera.

The 54-year-old Della Rocca won the loot with the help of another shoemaker-opera expert, Gino Prato, who carried off $32,000 on the same program last year. Prato acted as Della Rocca's "expert" on the show, aiding him in building an answer to the big question.

Della Rocca, who runs a small time opera enterprise in his home town, said he would use his winnings to raise the standards of his productions.

"I wanna expand the opera," he said after the show. "We need opera in every corner. I'm very glad that now I get a chance to do this thing."

For his personal needs, said Della Rocca, he would spend nothing.

TO REMAIN SHOEMAKER
"I'm a simple man," he said. "I like the small things—like Puccini. I got everything for the life now. I don't need nothing. I stay a shoemaker. I like it. I work six days a week at it."

Della Rocca was the third contestant on the giveaway show to win the top prize money. Marine Capt. Richard McCutchen, a foods expert, and psychologist Joyce Brothers, a boxing specialist, were the previous $64,000 winners.

Della Rocca announced his decision to go for the big money by saying: "I am possess by a crazy idea. I think when I fix a pair of shoes, I fix complete. When the opera I run in is four acts, I run in four acts."

Therefore, said Della Rocca, he had no choice but to shoot for the $64,000.

His question centered around composer Richard Wagner, librettist Arrigo Boito and singer Enrico Caruso.

He was asked the name of a Puccini opera for which Boito had written the libretto, under what name Boito had written it, and the names of the two last operas by Verdi for which Boito had turned out the libretto. The answers were: La Gioconda, Tuba Gotto, Otello and Falstaff.

He also was asked to name the two teachers who trained Caruso in his young manhood, name of the opera which Caruso sang at the Metropolitan on Nov. 16, 1908, give Caruso's role in that production and tell who was making his debut that night. The answers were: Guglielmo Vergine and Vincenzo Lombardi; Alda, Radames and Arturo Toscanini.

After the program, surrounded by autograph hounds, his own relatives and relatives of Gino Prato, Della Rocca beamed happily.

"How do you feel?" asked a reporter.

"I feel like a human being," said Della Rocca. "I am not an exception." Then turning to Prato, he called out:

"Hey, Gino. Don't forget you gotta come to my next opera."

"I come all right," said Prato, also an Italian immigrant. "But when you invite me into opera, I gotta get guarantee that I no pay for the seat."

Aged Autoist Fined, Gives Up Licence

An elderly motorist who told court "I don't want to drive any more" was one of four drivers fined in city police court Tuesday on careless driving charges.

After a fine of $40 or six days in jail and a licence suspension was imposed on Joseph A. Fortin, 1603 Hollywood Crescent, he told Magistrate Henry Hall: "You can have my licence. I'm over 70 years old. It would cost me less to take a taxi."

Magistrate Hall agreed with the accused. "I think your decision is probably correct," he said.

Court was told the accused had been driving north on St. Charles when he pulled out from a stop sign and collided with a car traveling east on Fairfield. Damages were $750. The accident occurred Feb. 1.

OTHER CONVICTIONS

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow informed court that Fortin had previously been convicted on a careless driving charge, speeding and failing to stop for a stop sign.

Also fined $40 or six days in jail was Gerald W. Parker, 1117 Chapman. His licence was restricted to business purposes only for two months after circumstances regarding an accident Feb. 5 were given.

Parker told police he was driving west on Fort when he swerved to avoid an oncoming car. Police said the car went out of control, mounted a curb, rolled over and came to rest at 1249 Fort. Damage to the car was $1,300.

William Spilnick, Queen's Own Rifles, Gordon Head barracks, was fined $35 and his licence was suspended on a charge arising from an accident Dec. 24 on Collinson near Quadra.

Court was told his auto was in collision with a parked vehicle, resulting in $700 damages.

Peter N. Pederson, 1647 Chandler, paid a $35 fine. He was involved in a two-car accident Jan. 27 at Cook and Fort as he was attempting to make a left turn.

Plenty of Deer

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Highest deer population on the continent is claimed for Northwest bay, 15 miles north of here. Don Robinson, game biologist, said the winter range figure is from 40 to 50 per square mile.

Jet Pilots Down Big Bomber

Crews Jump Before
Plane Destroyed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—Air force F-100 jet fighters Tuesday shot down a $2,000,000 navy attack bomber but the A-3D Sky Warrior was not destroyed until after its three-man crew parachuted to safety from the disabled plane.

For five hours the Sky Warrior had circled over this desert base to consume its fuel and determine if a crash landing could be made safely. But shortly after 1 p.m. the crewmen were ordered to jump because it appeared impossible to make a safe belly landing.

The twin-jet bomber had taken off early today from International airport at Los Angeles en route to the navy station at Patuxent, Md. The plane was just gaining altitude when it lost part of its landing gear assembly and the wheels could not be lowered into position.

The pilot, Lt. W. B. McGinnity, Jr., of Norman, Okla., radioed he was flying here to attempt a landing on the wide open desert air-base field.

While crash crews stood by, the plane circled for hours after hour using up its fuel. Finally it was decided that a forced landing of the $2,000,000 aircraft would endanger the lives of the crew. McGinnity ordered co-pilot Lt. Kenneth L. Melvin of Alexandria, Minn., and crewman C. W. Huffines, AD3C, of Gainesville, Tenn., to jump.

He then put the plane in level flight towards a practice bombing range and jumped himself.

SHOT DOWN

As helicopters picked up the crew after they parachuted to the ground, three F-100 fighters closed in on the attack bomber and shot it down about 25 miles north of the field to prevent it from crashing in a populated area.

Publicity Agents To Attract Voters
Proposed by MLA

A suggestion that the British Columbia government hire a publicity agent to bring out more voters at elections was made in the Legislature Tuesday by Bert Price (SC-Vancouver-Burrard).

Mr. Price said the percentage of people voting at elections is steadily declining.

He suggested tags be given to people after they have cast their ballots to advertise the election.

HARDLY WORTH IT

SHEHO, Sask. (CP)—A farmer who shipped a calf hide to a dealer in Yorkton was informed he would be paid $162, minus shipping charges of $150.

Higher Wage Scales For Foresters Urged

Expansion of Government Service
Urged by Celgar at Sloan Hearings

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C.'s forest service needs more money, especially to pay higher salaries to government foresters, the Sloan forestry commission was told Tuesday.

The suggestion was contained in a brief presented by Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd., which operates a pulp mill at Prince Rupert and a sawmill at Castlebar under the name of Celgar.

The company was issued the first management licence in B.C. in the Prince Rupert district.

The brief, presented by general manager Wentworth Brown and operations director C. B. Dunham, said the understaffed government forest service must have more money to cope with more work.

LOST TO INDUSTRY

Both witnesses said the government's key forestry personnel was being lost to industry. Higher salaries would stop the leaks and attract trained men to the provincial service.

The forest service work load, as new areas opened and practices improved, was becoming heavy enough for expansion of the government organization, the executives testified.

The brief also recommended: Establishment in the coast market of grades for pulpwood and balsam.

Coast region log prices should be the basis for stumpage value appraisal in coast forest areas.

A change in measuring scales for calculating basis of stumpage appraisals.

Certain interior timber stands, of the same species in nearby coastal areas, should be appraised in accordance with coast practices.

QUEER PASSENGERS

HARTLEPOOL, Eng. (CP)—Fifty lizards, each about 21 inches long, were found aboard a German cargo ship docking here from Venezuela. A crew member is keeping one as a pet.

TICKLISH SENTENCE

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Two Lexington youths found nothing ticklish about their two-month court-imposed task. They reported to juvenile court Tuesday they had completed picking up the last of 100,000 feathers they admitted scattering when they broke into a novelty firm.

FOREST COMMISSION

Also appearing before Chief Justice Gordon Sloan's royal commission was F. J. G. Johnson, representing Cariboo Lumbermen's Association, who said a permanent, independent forest commission was necessary. He suggested regional advisory boards could attend to problems of a local nature.

Mr. Johnson was supplementing his brief submitted at Quesnel, B.C., Oct. 21, 1955, in which he urged an independent commission be established.

Regional advisory boards, he said, were necessary to iron out community problems and to represent whole forest regions at the same time.

All interests, such as farming, ranching and business, as well as forestry and government, would work in harmony through board representation, he said.

BETWEEN TIMES

By
MONTE ROBERTS

Open letter to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.
Dear Mr. Commerce:
Spring comes first to Victoria, you always say, and you are so right.

I know you have trouble convincing the poor frozen prairie provinces and the snow-covered east of this fact, so I thought perhaps you would be interested in my own experiences of today.

My experiences certainly prove spring comes first to Victoria, and if you wish, I will have them attested by a notary public.

Then you can use them to advertise how spring comes first to Victoria.

Well, sir, my first experience this morning, which is Feb. 15 and springtime in Victoria, as if you didn't know, my first experience was, I sprang out of bed with a single bound.

The reason was, my wife put her feet in the middle of my back, but we needn't go into that.

My next experience was, I went into the kitchen to put the kettle on for a cup of tea, and what do you think I found in the kitchen?

Why, nothing but the first stopped-up sink of spring. Imagine my gay amusement when I found the out-fall pipe frozen! And the fun I had, using the kettle for unstopping pipes instead of making tea!

But my next experience was even more thrilling. Going for my regular before breakfast stroll in the garden, what do you think I found peeking shyly through the ground?

You're right. The first snow drop of spring. Only this was different; made of real snow.

Ah, it was wonderful strolling in the garden, between the row on row of blooming icicles. (I mean blooming in the nicest sense of the word.) And I listened, too, as the birds chattered back and forth among themselves, and I must confess I also chattered. In fact, my teeth sounded like castanets on New Year's eve in Madrid.

After my stroll in the garden, I went in the house again, and, while my wife phoned the doctor to find out the right treatment for frostbite, I glanced idly out the window.

And there I saw him—yes, I did indeed—the very first robin of spring.

At least, I think it was a robin.

It is so hard to tell one bird from another when they wear raccoon coats, ear muffs and overshoes.

I do hope this testimonial to spring in Victoria brings many more tourists here, especially at this time of the year. I am sure they will find many places available for sublet.

Sincerely yours,
Monte (California was never like this) Roberts.

CONCENTRATION NEEDED WHEN PLAYING CHESS GRANDMASTER

The utmost of concentration was needed by 40 Victoria chess players Tuesday night against U.S. grandmaster Sammy Reshevsky in their simultaneous exhibition match.

In the centre, H. G. L. Bengough, playing from a wheelchair, lost early, while on the right Capt. J. Lee is wrapped in thought. (Times photos by Strickland.)

MASTER UNDEFEATED

Reshevsky Thrills 300 Chess Fans

U.S. grandmaster Samuel Reshevsky met 40 Victoria players in a simultaneous chess exhibition match at Central Junior High School auditorium Tuesday night, and was undefeated after three hours of play.

Reshevsky conceded eight draws, seven by adjudication after the 11 p.m. adjournment, and had a strong position on all remaining boards.

Strongest game was played by Dr. Simon Marinker, defending Victoria champion and president of the Victoria Chess Club, who opened up a perpetual check on Reshevsky's king, forcing the master to concede a draw on the 30th move.

Nearly 300 chess fans turned up despite wintry weather to be thrilled by the great player's chess wizardry.

Striding purposefully from board to board set in a wide U-formation on the auditorium floor, the diminutive New Yorker hardly paused at most boards in making his rapid-fire moves.

At those boards which occupied his attention for more than a fleeting instant, he either hummed a snatch of a classical air or pursed his lips in thought.

At the end of the three hours' play, his step was still jaunty, and he confessed to being so wrapped up in concentration that he did not notice the chilly temperature of the auditorium.

Those players awarded draws by the independent panel of judges after play had ceased included E. Schulz, J. H. Lacey, L. Hall, R. W. Hampton, F. W. Plant, A. H. Sheard, R. R. Bennett and Paul Smith.

After the match, Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, co-sponsors of the exhibition with the Victoria Chess Club, presented Reshevsky with a hand-carved chess set fashioned by Baffin Island Eskimos, "in recognition of his efforts in furthering the interests of chess in North America."

Reshevsky, visibly moved by the presentation, promised to return to Victoria in the future, and praised the exhibition as the "best conducted and best presented" in which he had ever participated.

Speaking of the players, Reshevsky said that "some of the U.S. grandmasters, conquerors of Bolshinnik, chess prodigy at eight years of age."

Myself and 39 other Victoria players met Sammy at Central Junior High School auditorium Tuesday night in a simultaneous exhibition. The other 39 gave him a better game, I fear.

A sporadic player since the age of 14, I knew I wasn't in the same league with the master, but the boss had offered a $25 bonus if I could beat him. Well, 25 bucks is 25 bucks, and who knows, maybe Reshevsky would suddenly lose his senses.

He didn't. At that, I lasted for 30 moves to the end of the three-hour time-limit, and a loss by the adjudication of the judges. But I had the distinct impression that little Sammy was carrying me from about the 12th move on, even sooner.

He toyed with me, ever since that 12th move, when he coyly offered me a pawn in the queen knight's file. I took it, and the next thing I knew Reshevsky was in my own pawn rank, slashing about right and left with rapier thrusts.

A checkmate was imminent. In desperation, I offered an exchange of queens. Kindly, he accepted, to prolong the agony. He really didn't have to, but he did, with a ghost of a smile and a quick, characteristic move.

Grateful for the reprieve, I wandered along blissfully for another few moves. Suddenly,

YOUNGEST PLAYER OF ALL

U.S. grandmaster Samuel Reshevsky, at Central Junior High School auditorium Tuesday night, was the youngest player of all at the exhibition match.

Reshevsky will give a simultaneous exhibition in Calgary tonight. He will play again in Winnipeg Thursday night, to conclude his four-city Canadian tour, and will then return to the U.S. for more exhibitions.

Reshevsky took up chess when he was seven, taught by his father. Three weeks later he defeated his father. At the age of 8 in Chicago he had already won 18 medals.

A spectator at last night's matches, lawyer Allan Cox, revealed that he had a picture at his home of Sammy Reshevsky as a child chess prodigy, playing in short white pants!

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral said that playing against the world's best was "a lifetime experience."

Dean Whitlow played well, made what he described as "one bad move," but left the building happily clutching a Reshevsky autograph on his tally sheet.

Paul Johnson of CBUT took movies of the match, which will be shown tonight at 6:45 over that station.

Among spectators: Leo Nimick, the CCF member of the legislature; bank manager Dudley Markham, Dr. "Mac" Edmiston, Rabbi Bernard Goldenberg (who lived in the same New York town as Reshevsky for many years) and Dr. George Bigelow whose trick camera exploded loudly twice at tense moments. Kibitzers proposed that Reshevsky retaliate against the genial golfer-doctor when he was attempting a two-foot putt.

At 10:30 p.m. only two Victoria players had been knocked out.

Said one spectator, examining the board of a hapless Victoria contestant: "Sammy was in that guy's backyard before he knew he was in Central Junior High auditorium."

CHESS SIDELIGHTS

At 9:30 last evening, as he sipped a cup of tea (especially brewed by Scottish Joe Stephen, a Victoria Press officer), grandmaster Sammy Reshevsky looked around the gymnasium and said: "A beautiful, beautiful exhibition... I'm really enjoying it." And then he added: "I'm a connoisseur of tea. This is the best tea I've had on my tour."

Reshevsky considered himself fortunate that the local chess club president was a doctor (Simon Marinker). For the first time in his life Sammy is sick—with an inflamed esophagus, which is "first cousin to an ulcer." At two dinners in his honor Tuesday he ate whole-wheat bread, fruit and soft-boiled eggs.

Why are the Russians such good chess players? Because, says Reshevsky, the astounding total of 70 million Russians play the game.

Reshevsky took up chess when he was seven, taught by his father. Three weeks later he defeated his father. At the age of 8 in Chicago he had already won 18 medals.

Mayor Wants Old P.O. Site Held Open

Customs Building Plans Protested to Minister

Mayor Percy Scurrell has written to Ottawa protesting the erection of a federal customs and immigration building on the site of the old post office on Government Street.

The mayor said today he has asked federal Public Works Minister Robert Winters to reconsider the decision to erect the building on the harbor site on the grounds the edifice is unsuitable for the area.

The mayor's protest follows an announcement last Wednesday that the federal works department has called tenders for the project to cost close to $1,000,000.

The Capital Region Planning Board and many businessmen have been made for a parking area for the building and the design of the building is not suited for the district.

The mayor said he favored a location in the Langley and Bastion Street area, nearer the new post office.

The old post office site, he said, could be left open to improve the beauty of the inner harbor, or a smaller public building erected to conform with architecture of the surrounding area.

"We are now faced with serious traffic congestion on Government Street," said the mayor. "The government's plan does not take this into consideration or make any provisions for parking areas."

He said the city, in co-operation with the provincial government and the Capital Region Planning Board, wanted to make Victoria one of the most beautiful cities in Canada.

"But how can we plan ahead if the governments do not co-operate with the city and planning boards on choice of sites for public buildings?" he asked.

He felt certain the federal government consults the Capital Region Planning Board of Ottawa when a public building was planned in that city. The same policy should be extended to other cities, he said.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—When were gold coins first minted in Canada? When was Canadian gold first used in minting Canadian coins.

A.—In 1860, at the time of the Fraser River gold rush, a government assay office was established at New Westminster, British Columbia; and in 1862 this operated as a mint. A number of gold coins of $10 and $20 in value were struck; but the operation was short-lived and the few gold coins it struck are worth fabulous prices. It was not until the Yukon gold rush that the idea of establishing a mint in Canada came again to the fore and in 1908 the Royal Mint in Ottawa was opened as a branch of the Royal Mint in London.

WRITER IN 'A SPOT'

Times chess writer Bill Rayner finds himself in a tough spot early against U.S. chess master Sammy Reshevsky. Bill lasted for the three-hour time limit, but his position long had been lost.

Reshevsky, visibly moved by the presentation, promised to return to Victoria in the future, and praised the exhibition as the "best conducted and best presented" in which he had ever participated.

Speaking of the players, Reshevsky said that "some of the U.S. grandmasters, conquerors of Bolshinnik, chess prodigy at eight years of age."

Myself and 39 other Victoria players met Sammy at Central Junior High School auditorium Tuesday night in a simultaneous exhibition. The other 39 gave him a better game, I fear.

A sporadic player since the age of 14, I knew I wasn't in the same league with the master, but the boss had offered a $25 bonus if I could beat him. Well, 25 bucks is 25 bucks, and who knows, maybe Reshevsky would suddenly lose his senses.

He didn't. At that, I lasted for 30 moves to the end of the three-hour time-limit, and a loss by the adjudication of the judges. But I had the distinct impression that little Sammy was carrying me from about the 12th move on, even sooner.

He toyed with me, ever since that 12th move, when he coyly offered me a pawn in the queen knight's file. I took it, and the next thing I knew Reshevsky was in my own pawn rank, slashing about right and left with rapier thrusts.

A checkmate was imminent. In desperation, I offered an exchange of queens. Kindly, he accepted, to prolong the agony. He really didn't have to, but he did, with a ghost of a smile and a quick, characteristic move.

Grateful for the reprieve, I wandered along blissfully for another few moves. Suddenly,

An Old-Fashioned Duster Is a Mass of Gay Feathers

By PENNY SAVER

After a series of bridal showers, you'll find that it's sometimes rather hard to find a new or different angle or theme to present in the decorations for the party.

Of course, it depends on the type of shower, too. It's household gifts you're planning, you can put an original touch in the presentation of "flowers" to the bride-elect. Instead of the usual corsage, give your guest of honor a feather bouquet, made of an old-fashioned feather duster tied with ribbons. I hadn't seen these dusters for years, so I was delightedly surprised to see them hanging gaily in one of my favorite little shops. A bright emerald green with green plastic handle, or a yellow and black feather combination with yellow handle is yours for either $1 or $1.95. Beauty and practicality combined.

Dainty serving dishes are an important part in the overall appearance of your refreshment table, too. Interesting clear crystal ones are square. Handwork on the backs is of a filigree black lace that looks real. On first sight, they have the appearance of lace pressed between two pieces of crystal. A matching sandwich plate is an oblong, and has the dainty design repeated. The set of six serving plates and sandwich tray costs $7.50.

For a sit-down supper, interesting place mats add sparkle and color to the simplest arrangements. A new idea is seen in the thin foam rubber mats that come in three sizes to suit the meal.

The edges are pinked, so there's little possibility of them tearing. In the centres are spray designs. One is of two blown roses, and the other, of an old-fashioned lady and gentleman. One of the joys of such items is that they're so easy to wash. Just dip, squeeze and roll in a towel, and they're ready to be used almost immediately. Being a nylon sponge, they dry in a wink. The prices are 39, 49 and 59 cents, and the shades are mint, daffodil, petal pink, rose, white, or peacock blue.

Many of you have used the quick-as-a-wink silver cleaner about which I wrote several months ago. Every now and then I take a look at the displays in different stores and note the prices. I see that this Quik-dip is down to 55 cents a bottle.

Those of you who have tried it know it works like magic. Silver, brass and copper shine.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

For variety in apple pie flavor, try a caramel-flavored one. Use all brown sugar and slice 1/4 cup butter over the apples before covering with top crust.

Lay celery and carrot sticks next to the frozen sandwiches in the lunchbox. This way, the vegetables will stay fresh and crispy for lunch, while the sandwich defrosts.

When arranging the furniture, plan an interesting and attractive group at the spot first seen as you enter the room.

To divide a pie into five equal portions, make a Y cut first. The top angle of the Y should be the size of one serving. Then make two cuts into each side angle of the Y.

$200 Spent on Children's Milk By Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, IODE

Undernourished children in Victoria schools were supplied with $200 worth of milk during the past year by Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, IODE. The fund was the chapter's main project, reported Mrs. H. V. O'Reilly, services at home and abroad convenor, at the annual meeting held yesterday following a luncheon in the mahogany room of the Strathcona Hotel.

In her secretary's report, Mrs. B. Price listed money-making projects as an Easter bonnet tea, rummage sale, coffee party, raffles and a dance revue. Total receipts were $620.80 and disbursements $568.07, reported Mrs. T. G. Clarke, treasurer.

A set of fairy stories donated by Mrs. George Masters and an encyclopaedia set from the chapter will be sent to the chapter's recently adopted school at Uclulet, according to Mrs. A. MacDonald, educational secretary. She also stated that $40 was given to secondary education.

Other reports were given by Mrs. P. E. Corby, Mrs. L. Duncan and Mrs. H. Menzies.

Newly elected officers are: Mrs. Beverley A. Smith, regent; Mrs. J. C. MacDonald, first vice-regent; Mrs. A. B. McNeill, second vice-regent; Mrs. Price, secretary; Mrs. Clarke, treasurer;

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"The Esquimalt Friendly Help Society is meeting in my home this morning," said a pleasant voice on the telephone, "and we wondered if you would come along and have a cup of coffee with us and see what we are doing out here."

Perhaps it was the words "Friendly Help Society" that intrigued me. I hadn't heard them in many years and they conjured up memories of my mother and her friends making hot soups and packing food baskets to take to families who had little or no food. Or it might have been merely the thought of hot coffee. At any rate I went across to Constance avenue to the home of Mrs. G. W. Baugh Allen to meet the Esquimalt Friendly Help Society.

I found seven women seated in a pleasant living room, earnestly discussing finances and ways and means to help those in need in their district.

"Where are the rest of the members?" I asked. "This is it," someone answered, "seven of us, that's all... and occasionally we have been down to five."

However, I soon discovered that seven women, motivated by a wish to help those less fortunate than themselves, can accomplish as much, or more, than a much larger group.

The society was formed down at the beginning of the century, which accounts for its name, of course. There is no such thing as "friendly help" nowadays... it's all organized, specialized social services.

In those days, the membership, while still small, numbered such well-known names as Lady Barnard, Mrs. L. M. Gould, Mrs. G. Sisman, Mrs. Mary Croft, Mrs. J. T. Jones and Mrs. Gordon Hardy.

Work With Aged Residents

During the depression following the First World War the society was very active, helping families where the breadwinner was out of work and there was no food or fuel. "We clothed and fed many in those days," one of the members said.

Today, as work is plentiful, there is little to do with starving families and so the society finds a medium for its work in the aged and the indigent.

"We try to assist older people in this district," the president, Mrs. Baugh-Allen, explained, "we give them food, used clothes, sometimes help to find fuel, drugs and even dentures for them. It is necessities we deal in, not frills. Or course at Christmas we do try to give special treats and gifts."

"Our members always visit those we help. We give the personal touch to everything we do and we do our work with a minimum of red tape."

Where does the money come from, I asked. The little group gets a grant from the Esquimalt Municipality, some assistance from the Lions Club and any other money they have is from donations and subscriptions received through friends. They have no money-making affairs.

"But we have no expenses," I was told, "unless it is a few postage stamps."

Take Themselves Out of Chest

Once upon a time the society was included in the Community Chest but they crossed themselves off this list a few years ago. Now they are again on their own and struggling to keep their heads above water.

"We were wondering whether you would tell the public about us," one of the members said a little diffidently, "our money is just about used up and we do hate to disappoint the old people that we try to help. Do you suppose you could write a column about us?"

Looking at the kindly faces of the seven women around me, and thinking of the many people they have helped and still help, I said "yes."

The little group meets once a month at the Constance avenue home to plan and to work. They make over clothes, pack hampers, discuss way and means... and they drink coffee. They work closely with their district's welfare office.

If you are interested in finding out more about the work, telephone Mrs. Baugh-Allen. She is the heart and soul of this "friendly" society. The other members? They are Mrs. A. A. Warder, Mrs. A. G. Fuller, Mrs. R. McVie, Mrs. J. T. Jones, Mrs. H. Mearns and Mrs. T. S. Floyd.

QUEBEC WOMAN TO RUN FOR PROVINCIAL OFFICE

QUEBEC (CP)—Mrs. Patrick Murphy, mother of four and member of nearby St. Romuald's municipal council, hopes to become the first woman to hold a seat in the provincial legislature.

Mrs. Murphy, French-speaking wife of an industrialist, has announced her willingness to run as a Union Nationale candidate in the forthcoming provincial elections.

The housewife, who says she has been "interested in politics for about 18 years," would contest the Levis county seat if accepted as a candidate. At present this seat is held by Liberal Raynold Eslinger, a Levis lawyer.

Although there have been women candidates in previous provincial elections, none has ever been successful.

Discussion Highlights Session

Four points were raised in the panel discussion, "Are Women Pulling Their Weight in Public Life?" held Tuesday afternoon at 62nd annual meeting of the Local Council of Women. They dealt with women in elective offices, women in executive positions, women's use of franchise and women's work in the community.

Dr. Henrietta Anderson was chairman, and the panel members Mrs. Joan Williams, Mrs. May Campbell, Mrs. H. L. Smith and Mrs. D. J. Lawson.

After a lively discussion in which Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Smith took the view that women were not "pulling their weight," and Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. Williams contended they were, Dr. Anderson summed up the views expressed.

On the point of elective offices, Mrs. Campbell noted only one woman in legislature, and that the modern woman is not living up to the expectations of the suffragettes. She stated "I am afraid that in the present struggle to gain an equal footing, women will first have to overcome the scepticism of other women." Dr. Anderson stated the conclusion that in elective offices women definitely were not pulling their weight.

The aspect of women in executive positions drew out many Mrs. W. D. Morgan; Kind's statements and points for discussion. Mrs. H. L. Smith said "Women have overcome their thralldom to men, but are not emancipated from their own feelings of inferiority and subservience." The conclusion drawn noted that some executive positions were better in the hands of men, but with economic position changes, many will be held by women.

POTENTIAL LEADERS
On the third point, franchise, Mrs. Williams, a wife and practicing lawyer, noted that the franchise was only obtained about 50 years ago and that the result was just beginning to be felt. She pointed out the depression was a setback, but that since the war, girls were going into law, medicine and science. These girls are just now graduating. They have had training and have used their minds, and here are the potential leaders. In the conclusion drawn, Dr. Anderson said that in this phase women were not doing their part, and that the influence of women's franchise should have more meaning to women.

As to the question whether women were pulling their weight in the community, Dr. Anderson stated that the very fact that these vital and interested women were at the panel and the annual meeting proved that the community was benefiting by the women's part. A resume of the numerous women's clubs, auxiliaries and organizations formed for constructive purposes would clearly show the lead that women pull in the community.

During the day reports of affiliated societies were heard. Among them were: Metropolitan Church Women's Auxiliary, by Mrs. Bertha Parsons; Overseas Nursing Sisters, Mrs. O. F. Wetherston; Canadian Daughters League, Assembly No. 5.

Reports of standing committees given were by Miss Ellen Hart, on Housing and Town Planning; Miss Lottie Bowron, on Citizenship and Canadianization, and Mrs. J. M. Thomas, Education Committee.

The meeting continued today. Highlight of this afternoon's session was Dr. Olga Jordin's "Impressions of Scandinavia."

There was an average of 24 boarders during the year and 2,103 temporary guests. Meals were served to 40,044 and Christmas dinner served to 115 elderly women. A new auxiliary was

YWCA Membership Increases Reports Show; New Officers

Mrs. H. C. Small was elected president of board of directors of the YWCA at the annual meeting Tuesday evening.

Other officers are Mrs. F. Bliss, first vice-president; Mrs. K. O. Wright, second; Mrs. H. Holdsworth, treasurer; Mrs. R. E. Foster, recording secretary, and Mrs. A. H. Sheard, corresponding secretary.

Others on the board are Mrs. G. Anderson, Mrs. A. J. Butterfield, Mrs. F. McClement, Mrs. P. J. Mulcahy, Mrs. D. A. Drummond, Mrs. J. L. Roaf, Mrs. W. G. Hamilton and Mrs. B. J. Seats.

Reports given during the evening showed YWCA membership at an all-time high of 1,082. One hundred and twenty juniors are enjoying many projects; there are 320 girls in Y-Teen groups, and other projects include "Twilight Singers" and a popular Armchair Travelers' group for older citizens.

There was an average of 24 boarders during the year and 2,103 temporary guests. Meals were served to 40,044 and Christmas dinner served to 115 elderly women. A new auxiliary was formed for mending and sewing, outstanding need indicated in our association," Mrs. Seats concluded, "and I am pleased to report that a start has been made in this service. It is planned to make it available to more people in the coming year."

Treasurer's report showed receipts, including community chest, provincial government and city grants of $24,988.31. The dining room made $3,603.64. Disbursements were $25,204.68.

Reports were given by Mrs. Mulcahy, finance; Mrs. McClement, treasurer; Mrs. Small, program; Mrs. A. C. Brand, travellers' aid; Mrs. Hamilton, world service ($890 was sent forward for this work); Mrs. H. Tisdall, membership; Mrs. Bliss, house and dining room, and Mrs. Wright, staff. The executive director, Mrs. Elsie Purcell, introduced her staff and spoke of the overall work.

Greater Victoria's population is now in the over 65 age group is also indicative that the association should be sharing the general concern for those in the older age brackets.

Tipsy Custard Cakes Make Tasty English Party Dessert

A decorative centerpiece for the buffet table, this tipsy custard cake is baked from an English recipe.

An original and pretty dessert—that's what Mrs. Margot Tischbein of Cincinnati calls tipsy custard cake.

An English war bride married overseas in the last war, she brought her recipe with her to the United States. But she adapted her recipe to American short cuts.

TIPSY CUSTARD CAKE (MAKES 8-10 SERVINGS)
Cake: One-quarter teaspoon salt, 4 eggs, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon lemon extract, 1 cup pancake mix.

Grease well the sides and bottom of a 1½-quart ring mold. Dust with flour. Add salt to eggs; beat until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flavorings and pancake mix, stirring lightly until batter is smooth. Spread evenly in ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Immediately on taking cake from oven loosen around edges and turn out on wire rack. When cake is cool, cut crosswise to make three layers.

Custard Filling: One package instant vanilla pudding mix, milk (to make soft custard), ½ teaspoon lemon extract.

Follow directions on instant pudding mix package. Add, by tablespoons, a little more milk to make a soft custard. Add lemon flavoring.

Topping: One square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate, shaved. Put layers of cake together, using about ½ cup soft custard and a sprinkling of shaved chocolate between each. Top with additional custard and chocolate.

Note: If additional sauce is desired, use two packages of pudding mix.

Miss Frances Howard, Anglican missionary from Sierra Leone, Africa, will be the speaker; Mrs. Arthur Jackman, the soloist, and Mrs. D. H. Goodwyn will preside at the organ.

At the same time a similar service will be held for inmates and staff of the Aged Women's Home, with Mrs. Brigadier C. J. Milley leading the service, assisted by others. Mrs. Don Butler will be soloist and Mrs. Dave Scott the accompanist. Major Alice Saunders of the Salvation Army will be the speaker.

For the convenience of business and professional women and members of evening auxiliary and missionary groups a service will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel at 8 p.m. Miss Ruth Pearce will preside, assisted by young women representatives from other denominations. Rev. Laura Butler, associate minister of the Metropolitan United Church, will be the speaker; Miss Bernice Bray the soloist, and Mrs. Willard Ireland will preside at the organ.

The offering received at these services will be devoted to various missionary work in the world. During 1955 the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada, with headquarters in Toronto, spent $31,163.93 on missionary projects in Africa, India, Japan, Korea, Latin America, Pakistan, Trinidad and Canada, also literature in Braille for the blind.

BERT CROCKETT

Famed Coach Living Here Heading East

R. H. "Bert" Crockett, 2280 Epworth, is heading for his 70th birthday and, by the looks of it, the end of the "retired" life he took up in Victoria two years ago.

Bert is the famed swim coach and all-around athletic instructor whose 23 years of service to the Fergus, Ont., ended with the 1953 season.

Among his brightest pupils in his swim-teaching days was a young lady named Shirley Campbell, who won two world championships under his tutelage.

Last year Shirley was on the threshold of fame again when, as a professional, she came close to conquering Lake Ontario.

NO ARGUMENT

Now she has asked Bert to take over duties as her coach and trainer again. Bert said this morning he has no "definite agreement" with Shirley, but would look forward to working with her again.

"She's a wonderful girl, as pretty and vivacious as they come. And, of course, a wonderful swimmer."

Bert doesn't know what major swims Shirley will tackle next summer, but he hopes Juan de Fuca Strait will be included.

"Bert himself is the healthiest looking septuagenarian seen in these parts for many a year. He has a 46-inch chest, 36-inch waist, and boundless energy for the job ahead."

Strijdom Says Whites Must Remain Supreme

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom told Parliament today that if the white man was to remain supreme in South Africa the voting rights of persons of mixed blood must be restricted.

He said that if steps had not been taken in the past to strengthen the white man's position through the franchise, the parliamentary benches today would have been filled with native Africans and coloreds (mixed bloods).

Strijdom, whose government pursues a vigorous segregation policy, was speaking on a bill which would remove voters of mixed blood from the white electoral rolls of Cape province. Their present equal franchise is "a sword of Damocles" hanging over the white population,

Sievers Won't Budge In Contract Talk

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pioneer hitter Roy Sievers, who has fired back four contract offers from Washington Senators, vowed Tuesday he intends to "stay at home until they send me a satisfactory contract."

The 29-year-old Sievers says he doesn't consider himself a holdout at this stage but "it's just that I feel I had a very good year during 1955 whether Calvin Griffith thinks so or not."

'ONLY TRUE COMMUNISTS'

Wealthy Farmers, Hutterites Live by Bible; Ignore World

WILSON SIDING, Alta. (CP) — The impact of modern civilization is changing the Hutterites' way of earning a living. But the quaint religious and social system which governs the colonies still is practically the same as it was 400 years ago.

The sect now is enjoying greater prosperity than at any time since it was founded in the Swiss Alps in the 16th century. The Hutterites have advanced rapidly from the primitive methods of farming they used a few years ago and now have reached a stage where their colonies are among the best-equipped, large-scale farming operations on the continent.

Christ and the Bible are the Hutterites' guide. There is a life well-insulated from the stream of community life around them. They refuse to vote in elections or take part in community activities and only within the last 20 years have they bowed to the law which compels children to attend school.

PATRIARCHAL HEAD

"We would rather be burned at the stake than go out and live the kind of life now being lived in the world," said Rev. John Wurz, 77-year-old head of the Wilson Siding colony, 20 miles south of Lethbridge. He is the recognized head of the world's 10,000 Hutterites, half of whom live in Alberta.

Mr. Wurz speaks and understands a German dialect better than he does English. He bears a striking resemblance to the ancient prophets as depicted by medieval painters and he dresses simply in the standard black garb of his people. He has an intrimmed grey beard and long, white hair which hangs straight over his ears and collar.

He makes an urgent plea for freedom for the Hutterites to practise their religion and way of life without outside interference.

"We are the only true Communists in the world," he said. "We have the spiritual idea in our organization. The Bolsheviks are tyrants who do not believe in almighty God and who want the whole world for themselves."

The basis of the Hutterite philosophy of life is a verse from the book of Acts: "And all that believed were together and had all things in common. And sold their possessions and goods and parted them to all men, as every man had need."

URGE RESTRICTIONS

In Manitoba some groups of citizens call for legislation to restrict expansion of Hutterite colonies. They describe the sect as a "body of strict practising Communists under a strongly organized, semi-allen, self-seeking and aggressive Communist system."

In Alberta a law restricts land purchases by the sect.

The main criticism seems to have developed from the rapid increase in recent years in Hutterite land holdings and the sect's determination to remain aloof from community and public life.

"They don't do anyone any harm," said one Albertan. "They practise their own business and pay their taxes and bills promptly without haggling. But on the other hand what good do they do?"

"We do everything the people and the government ask of us," said Mr. Wurz.

"We pay our taxes and are always willing to help others. Through the years we have always extended a helping hand to non-Hutterites in need. But we don't want to do anything that is forbidden by God."

WANDERING GROUP

The Hutterites' way of life has kept them at odds with their neighbors since the 16th century. Through the years they moved from country to country seeking a haven where they could live the life they thought was right.

Roughly 75 years ago the world's 400 Hutterites left Russia to settle in the Dakotas of the United States. Since then their number has increased roughly 25 times.

The members of the sect were described by the U.S. population reference bureau as being among the most prolific people on earth. If the present birth rate continues the Hutterite population will double every 16 years.

Lions Invited To Kelowna

KELOWNA (CP) — City council has invited the B.C. Lions football club to train again this summer in Kelowna.

Ald. Dick Parkinson reported on a meeting he had with the Lions' directors in Vancouver. He said the executive indicated they would like to return to Kelowna for the club's summer training.

Bringing Up Baby

Isn't it amazing how quickly little ones learn to break the spell of the sandman? If your little one starts bawling at bedtime, it helps to remember that a desire for sleep can be encouraged if you keep it a happy event instead of an unpleasant duty. Babies dearly love ritual, especially if the ritual includes some fun. Lullabying: making a game of undressing, just saying goodnight to treasured toys are old tricks that stand the strain of repetition well.

Biting bit. Gerber Teething Biscuits can be mighty soothing to a tot in the throes of teething. They're smooth-surfaced to provide blessed relief for aching gums — extra-hard for biting satisfaction.

Gerber Teething Biscuits are mildly but pleasantly flavored. Individually wrapped in cellophane.

Play Pen pointers. Because so many hours are whiled away in this little "housing development," baby's play pen should be as safe, secure and comfortable as possible.

Choose one sturdy enough to withstand shaking and gymnastics.

Finish should be non-toxic, in case baby decides to teethe on the bars.

Pad should be thick enough for comfort; warm to the touch; washable.

Teeth showing — baby growing? Time for the switch to more "grown-up" foods. Gerber Junior Foods are just the thing for high chair heroes and heroines. For they have the tender, evenly mixed texture that tots with a few teeth can manage with a minimum of effort, a maximum of pleasure. True-to-nature flavors, attractive colors inspire mealtime zeal. Over 22 varieties Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada.

Church Plans Drive To Help Pensioners

A campaign to improve the lot of old age pensioners will be undertaken by United Churches of Vancouver Island.

Initial plans were laid Tuesday at the spring conference of 35 Island churches in Centennial United.

It is expected the federal government will be asked to take the lead of British Columbia in raising pension allowances for the aged.

Widespread co-operation in the campaign will be sought from churches of other denominations, service clubs and any interested groups.

SURVEYS

The conference passed a resolution agreeing to set up committees in such centres as Nanaimo, Courtenay and Port Alberni to conduct surveys of pensioners without adequate housing and discuss with outside groups methods of assistance.

B.C. Conference of the United Church will be asked to take similar action on a wider scale.

With that much under way, a sub-committee on political action may be established to seek further aid from the senior governments.

Rev. C. G. MacKenzie of Victoria West United Church and Victoria Presbytery chairman, reported a list has been prepared of licensed private hospitals, licensed boarding houses and private homes in Victoria suitable for pensioners.

There are seven private hospitals, 16 boarding homes and 13 private homes in the area.

What you should know about Life Insurance ...and the SUN LIFE OF CANADA

SIX and one half million Canadians today own life insurance. In purchasing their policies, these men and women recognized the essential part which life insurance plays in ensuring personal and family security. Their combined purchases have made life insurance Canada's most widely used form of thrift.

It would be difficult, today, to find any community across the nation without policyholders, annuitants or beneficiaries of the Sun Life of Canada.

HAVE YOU REALIZED that from the day you buy a life insurance policy, your family is protected for the full amount of the contract? In no other way can you create an immediate estate by paying an initial premium.

Life insurance estates created through the Sun Life of Canada by men and women the world over, were larger in 1955 than in any previous year.

LIFE INSURANCE, in its simplest form, is bought to provide dollars for dependents at the policy holder's death. Nevertheless today more life insurance money is paid to living policyholders than to beneficiaries.

Of the $136 millions (a new high) paid by the Sun Life in benefits last year, $94 millions went to living policyholders.

EVERY OWNER of a life insurance policy owes it to himself to learn about the many ways in which payment of life insurance dollars can be arranged to meet particular needs. For instance, a policy bought for the protection of the family can be used to supplement retirement income if the children are grown-up and the policy is no longer needed for its original purpose.

A Copy of the Company's complete 1955 Annual Report is being mailed to each policyholder or may be obtained from:

for pensioners began after Rev. H. P. Davidson, Langford United, reported for the evangelism and social service committee.

"The present scale of pensions and bonuses is disgracefully inadequate," he said.

Chairman of the committee, Rev. F. E. H. James, Metropolitan United, spoke of the need to combat a growing condonation among congregational leaders for social drinking.

How to Reduce Swollen, Painful Piles

without ointments, pile pipes or suppositories

Here is a nice, clean, easy way to shrink or reduce swollen, painful piles without the inconvenience of ointments, pile pipes or suppositories. The secret is in taking just one small Hem-Roid Tablet, with water, two or three times a day. By effective INTERNAL action this mild, but gently persistent medicine eases constipation, helps break up and smoothly pass off hardened intestinal waste, relieves itching, soreness and pain, helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. Hem-Roid is so easy to use, so pleasant and satisfying

REMEMBER, TOO, THAT your life insurance policies can be of help to you in several different ways throughout your lifetime. Suppose you are suddenly confronted with a financial obligation. You could borrow against your policy, and arrange for regular repayments.

Last year, several thousand policyholders were enabled to pass successfully through a temporary financial emergency by borrowing against their Sun Life policies.

Yes, to make the most of your life insurance, know what you want the dollars to do, and know also how you can have these dollars best arranged for the job. Your life insurance agent is the man to help you. His training and experience are readily available to you without obligation at all times.

Ike or Nixon, GOP Has Edge

PROROGATION FOR MARCH 2?

Premier Bennett expects prorogation of the current sitting of the Legislature about March 2. The session started Jan. 17. The budget debate is expected to conclude Thursday. The House then will go into committee for consideration of 1956-57 estimates. The lawmakers still face the usually heavy task of dealing with new legislation.

Cold Sets Five-Year Record

Low of 14
For Tonight

Temperatures will drop to 14 degrees here tonight in what the Dominion weather office at Vancouver says is B.C.'s most severe winter in five years.

Weatherman William Mackie predicted a maximum Thursday of 30 degrees, and expects snow Friday with the advent of a warm Pacific storm.

Minimum temperature overnight was 13.8 degrees. Record low during the damaging November cold spell was 12.5 degrees.

Mr. Mackie predicted a few clouds tonight and some high cloud Thursday. Snow flurries will be infrequent, he said.

The weather struck severely at Brentwood Tuesday night, dropping four inches of snow between 9 p.m. and midnight and whipping the inlet with high wind. Trans-Canada Airline flights were grounded, and a Brentwood boat-house operator reported two boats badly battered by heavy seas.

The CPR reported the Canadian crack trans-continental passenger train, was 40 minutes late.

The Kettle Valley train, running on detour times, was about two hours behind schedule. The train has been detoured via Spences Bridge to miss a huge snowslide. The slide was plowed out Tuesday but a heavy snowfall went off the rails in a tunnel, tearing down timbers and rocks and blocking the line again.

The CNR reported its Super-Continental more than 10 hours late but blamed the delay on "weather conditions on the prairies."

All airlines were operating on time.

Finns Elect New President

HELSINKI (AP)—Premier Urho Kekkonen today was elected president of Finland for a six-year term. He will succeed 85-year-old Juhon Paasikivi March 1.

Kekkonen, 58, won the election in a third round of voting by the 300 members of the electoral college. Electors bolted party lines and cast 151 votes for Kekkonen, who has been premier five years.

Snow Isolates Manitoba Towns

WINNIPEG (AP)—Manitoba snow ploughs were struggling through heavy drifts today to free snow-bound villages before emergency condition set in at a number of blizzard isolated communities in the province.

A number of rural Manitoba villages were reported cut off from the outside world by the latest storm, which dumped up to 10 inches on the already well buried eastern prairies. None were in danger of food or fuel shortage as yet, highway officials and RCMP said.

STILL CHAMP

Close to 300 chess enthusiasts clustered around chess boards at Central Junior High School auditorium (above) during simultaneous exhibition Tuesday night in which U.S. grandmaster Samuel Reshevsky whipped 32 local players, drew with eight. After three-hour match (right) Reshevsky received rare set of chessmen, carved by Baffin Island Eskimos, from Stuart Keate, publisher of Victoria Times, co-sponsor with Victoria Chess Club of exhibition. Chess set was obtained through co-operation of Hudson's Bay Company which air expressed set from Winnipeg just in time for presentation.

Khrushchev's 'Red Bible' Proves He's Head Man

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Communist party congress opened its second day today with Nikita Khrushchev now proven the unchallengeable master of the party's — and Russia's — destiny.

Western observers agree that the massive report given at Tuesday's opening session by the party secretary confirmed him as head man and dissipated pre-conference rumors that changes in the top-level hierarchy were possible.

Observers say the six-hour speech by the ebullient ex-coal miner is likely to become the "bible" of post-Stalinist Russia.

For the next two days the 1,600 delegates will listen to speeches following Khrushchev's 50,000-word oration, and then hear a report on the five-year plan by Premier Bulganin.

Copies of Khrushchev's marathon speech were pasted on billboards throughout Moscow. The Russian people started reading the text of the speech, which covers almost 10 pages of specially enlarged editions of Pravda and Izvestia.

The Soviet press rarely prints summaries of such occasions, and Russians must read through the length of a novel to find out what Khrushchev said.

Some less-important newspapers unable to print the full text of the Khrushchev speech published part of it today and said it was "to be continued."

It was noted that Khrushchev stressed that the "transition to socialism" need not always be connected with civil war in all countries and in some circumstances, though in some it was inevitable. Khrushchev put peaceful co-existence with capitalism at the head of a list of Russia's main tasks, and said that pending agreement on major questions of disarmament, Russia would agree to stop hydrogen bomb tests.

The only alternative to peaceful co-existence was "the most devastating war in history," and the method of negotiation must become the only one in resolving international issues. He urged collective security in Europe and Asia followed by disarmament.

KHRUSHCHEV'S SPEECH ON RADIO 8 HOURS

LONDON (Reuters)—Moscow's radio domestic network today took 2½ hours longer than it had planned to read the marathon speech delivered to the congress of the Soviet Communist party Tuesday by Nikita Khrushchev, party secretary.

It set aside 5½ hours for the report, but starting at 7 a.m. local time it was unable to finish until 2.45 p.m. A news bulletin, a concert and other items had to be cancelled.

Fists, Stools Fly In French Assembly

PARIS (AP)—Fighting broke out today on the floor of the French National Assembly between Socialist and Communist deputies on one side and the followers of Pierre Poujade on the other.

WIRE BRIEFS

Ex-RCMP Head Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. A. B. Perry, commissioner of the RCMP between 1900 and 1922, died Tuesday night in hospital. He was 95.

31 Carnival Deaths

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Thirty-one persons died during Rio de Janeiro's hectic four-day pre-Lenten Mardi Gras carnival and 3,684 were injured, police reported today.

GM Plant Stirring

OSHAWA, Ont. (BUP)—Oshawa's sprawling General Motors plant, strikebound for 21 weeks, will be back in full production by the end of this month, company spokesmen said today.

Negroes Beat Student

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Police chief W. C. Tompkins said two Negro brothers kicked and beat a University of Alabama student Tuesday night, and one later said the attack was to "get even" for "the way they treated Miss Lucy." Autherine Lucy, the university's first Negro student, was driven from the campus by mobs Feb. 6.

Assembly President Andre Letrouquer immediately cleared the galleries and suspended the session, but the enraged deputies continued their battle in front of the assembly rostrum.

Some deputies began throwing chairs. From one of the seats the noise of firecrackers was heard.

Agence France Presses reported that the "explosion" came from a toy pistol.

A Poujadist, Jean Damasio of the Seine department county, precipitated the fight when he and another Poujadist rushed for the speaker's rostrum in an effort to halt a vote on an anti-Poujadist motion.

Several Communist deputies dashed from their seats to haul the Poujadists down, and the fight became general between Communists and Poujadists.

SOCIALISTS JOIN IN

Some Socialists joined in to help the Communists. Damasio was the centre of an incident in the assembly Tuesday when he attempted a filibuster against a motion to invalidate the election of a Poujadist from the Haute Garonne department. He refused to budge from the rostrum, forcing Letrouquer to suspend the session.

The same motion was up for debate today, and Damasio apparently was seeking possession of the rostrum to repeat his manoeuvre.

President Will Run Says Martin

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's second term go-ahead from his doctors sent Republican hopes soaring today to their highest levels since the president's heart attack. It also sent Wall Street stocks sharply higher.

The second term decision was still to be made by Mr. Eisenhower, who has said he will trust his "own feelings" more than his doctors' reports. But the doctors have told him that there is no medical reason to bar him from serving another four years in the White House.

The president has indicated repeatedly that his physical fitness would be the most important factor influencing his decision.

GOP ELATED

Republican leaders quickly cheered the report as "a green light" and "the best news yet" to encourage their hopes for a second Eisenhower administration.

Disclaiming inside information, House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., told a Maryland audience Tuesday night: "Come March 1, the president will say, 'I accept the nomination.'"

After a series of examinations which started last Saturday, the president's physicians gave him and the public Tuesday afternoon their report on Mr. Eisenhower's "good recovery" from his heart attack at Denver last Sept. 24.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the famed heart specialist, and Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, White House physician, did the talking for the group of six doctors.

"We believe that he can serve four or five years or longer in a very active position of great responsibility," Snyder said.

NO WEAKNESS SEEN

Snyder said there were no physical abnormalities in the president's heart except the expected scar in the muscle and that there were no symptoms indicating the muscle was weak.

Mr. Eisenhower's pulse, temperature and blood pressure were described as normal and stable.

The president is still taking a drug to prevent the closing of heart blood vessels and will continue to do so for some time.

Mr. Eisenhower has said that he expects to be ready to announce his second-term decision by the end of this month. He can ponder it during his holiday, starting today, on the Thomasville, Ga., estate of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

EISENHOWER: ... will he, won't he?

Wolf Packs New Threat in Europe Cold

From Reuters, UP
BELGRADE—Packs of famished wolves today attacked rescue teams extricating bodies from avalanche debris in the desolate mountains of western Macedonia, where at least 55 persons died during the week-end.

Europe's three-week-old cold wave had claimed a total of 526 dead and 30 missing today, with no relief in sight. New snow covered most of the continent Tuesday night and extended over the Eastern half of Britain. Rivers froze and harbors became ice-jammed as men and machines fought to relieve the cold's attendant misery. "France and Italy were hardest hit."

Ice jams on the Rhine river near the famous Lorelei rock in Germany added floods to the other woes of the big freeze. The ice dam formed a 13-mile backwater and sent the river's waters 15 feet above their normal level at the village of Lorch. In Britain there were mammoth traffic jams and a 40-minute subway delay in London as a result of frozen switches during the morning rush hour.

Start of Lent Marked Here

Today is Ash Wednesday, start of the 40-day Lenten period of penance leading to Easter.

Anglican and Roman Catholic churches of Victoria and district marked the day with services this morning, the 18 Anglican churches with communion services and the six Roman Catholic churches with special masses.

At Roman Catholic churches the priests marked foreheads of parishioners with ashes, called the "imposition," saying in Latin "remember man that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return."

Most Anglican churches will have Lenten services this evening. At Christ Church Cathedral the service will be at 7.30 with Rev. G. W. Lang in the pulpit.

Ship Impounded

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—Egyptian shore batteries fired on a Norwegian freighter off the Mediterranean coast of the Gaza Strip and impounded it for entering Egyptian territorial waters, it was announced officially today.

DUKE 'GOES BELOW' IN NIGERIA

Wearing overalls and helmet, Duke of Edinburgh tours Iva Valley mine of Nigerian Coal Corp. at Engu, Nigeria, during royal tour. Today Queen Elizabeth and Duke met the chief of Akure, reputed to be 137 years old. Clad in an orange and velvet robe the old man walked unaided to meet Queen.

Pundits Rate Nixon As Stevenson Equal In Vote-Getting

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor
The Victoria Daily Times

WASHINGTON—The United States is now entering the most expensive and probably the bitterest political campaign in its modern history.

But as of now no one can foresee either the personalities or the issues involved. The decision of President Eisenhower to run or not to run hangs over the election as a colossal question mark, and that question is on the lips of everyone in Washington. It must be answered soon, now that his doctors say Mr. Eisenhower is "good for five to 10 more years of active life" in the presidency.

A Canadian is surprised to find the best-informed politicians and journalists of Washington split about evenly between those who are certain the president will accept a second term and those who are just as certain that he will not. If he has made up his mind one way or the other, his choice must be the best-kept secret of these times. He has promised an announcement at his next press conference, on Feb. 29.

His willingness to retain office would instantly simplify and doubtless settle the election. He can certainly have a second term if he wants it.

Nixon Tough to Beat?

His refusal would complicate the election and make its outcome extremely doubtful. For on all sides, even in the highest Democratic ranks, it is admitted that Mr. Stevenson, the potential opposition candidate, would have the utmost difficulty in beating Vice-President Nixon, who is expected to lead the Republicans.

Most Canadians apparently suppose that Mr. Stevenson, a peerless campaigner and a phrase-maker of genius, could defeat any Republican except Mr. Eisenhower. This result seems to be assured by the latest Gallup polls. But it is not Washington's estimate of the prospects.

Mr. Stevenson, it should be remembered, has been campaigning quietly for some three years and actively for the last six months. Mr. Nixon perforce has remained silent.

His strongest enemies concede that if he takes the stump he will prove to be a formidable candidate and he will be backed by more money, more television time and better organization than any former candidate of other party.

Above all, he will have the ardent support of Mr. Eisenhower, whose influence has become mystical, almost supernatural.

Moreover, if the Republican Party will be terribly weakened by Mr. Eisenhower's retirement, the Democratic Party already is developing deep schisms, which Mr. Stevenson is desperately attempting to close. It is superficially split on many temporary issues but fundamentally on the

'Happy Merger' Deal Backfiring on Unions?

PARKSVILLE, B.C. (CP)—An agreement between top Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor officials, meant to launch the merger of the two bodies in complete harmony, may have the opposite effect, it was predicted here.

Donald MacDonald, CCL secretary-treasurer, told a seminar of British Columbia labor officials here Tuesday night that the TLC-CCL unity committee has agreed the draft constitution of the new 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress must be accepted without change by the merger convention.

Mr. Stevenson, it should be remembered, has been campaigning quietly for some three years and actively for the last

Delegates said large unions have most to lose under the merger agreement clause covering representation at CLC conventions. This permits one delegate with a single vote for every 1,000 members of each union local.

A local with 8,000 members would have eight delegates, but a union with 10 locals, each containing 50 members, would be allowed 10 delegates to represent 500 persons.

R. K. Gervin, TLC vice-president and guest at the seminar, opposed the agreement to keep the CLC constitution unchanged. He said it would lead to the challenging of Claude Jodoin, CLC president-elect, the moment he tried to rule out any discussion of the constitution.

Branca Found Not Guilty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer Angelo Branca was found not guilty Tuesday on a charge of wilfully damaging a newspaper photographer's camera.

The charge arose from an incident outside the Tupper royal commission into police affairs on Jan. 20.

The trial of Joe Celona, Mr. Branca's client during the police hearing, on a charge of common assault arising from the same incident was adjourned to Thursday.

Charges were laid after Brian Kent, Vancouver Sun photographer, said Celona had punched him and Mr. Branca had damaged the camera after the photographer took a picture of the pair.

Mr. Branca told the court: "I believed then and still believe I had the right to prevent my picture being taken. I put out my hand and my finger caught in the range-finder of the camera."

The case was heard before Magistrate Gordon Scott.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

AS WE MARK the coming of the season of Lent, O Lord may we consciously draw nearer to Thee; find more of Thy spirit in our hearts, and Thy will in our way; in the Name of Him who died on the cross. Amen.

HUTCHISON REPORTS

GOP Given Edge
In U.S. Election

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor
The Victoria Daily Times

WASHINGTON—The United States is now entering the most expensive and probably the bitterest political campaign in its modern history.

But as of now no one can foresee either the personalities or the issues involved. The decision of President Eisenhower to run or not to run hangs over the election as a colossal question mark, and that question is on the lips of everyone in Washington.

It must be answered soon, now that his doctors say Mr. Eisenhower is "good for five to 10 more years of active life" in the presidency.

Hutchison

Nixon Tough to Beat?

His refusal would complicate the election and make its outcome extremely doubtful. For on all sides, even in the highest Democratic ranks, it is admitted that Mr. Stevenson, the potential opposition candidate, would have the utmost difficulty in beating Vice-President Nixon, who is expected to lead the Republicans.

Most Canadians apparently suppose that Mr. Stevenson, a peerless campaigner and a phrase-maker of genius, could defeat any Republican except Mr. Eisenhower. This result seems to be assured by the latest Gallup polls. But it is not Washington's estimate of the prospects.

Mr. Stevenson, it should be remembered, has been campaigning quietly for some three years and actively for the last six months. Mr. Nixon perforce has remained silent.

His strongest enemies concede that if he takes the stump he will prove to be a formidable candidate and he will be backed by more money, more television time and better organization than any former candidate of other party.

Above all, he will have the ardent support of Mr. Eisenhower, whose influence has become mystical, almost supernatural. Moreover, if the Republican Party will be terribly weakened by Mr. Eisenhower's retirement, the Democratic Party already is developing deep schisms, which Mr. Stevenson is desperately attempting to close. It is superficially split on many temporary issues but fundamentally on the

President Will Run
Says GOP Leader

WASHINGTON (UP)—The doctors have told him that there is no medical reason to bar him from serving another four years in the White House. The president has indicated repeatedly that his physical fitness would be the most important factor in his decision.

The second term decision was still to be made by Mr. Eisenhower, who has said he will trust his "own feelings" more than his doctors' reports. But

Khrushchev's 'Red Bible'
Proves He's Head Man

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Communist party congress opened its second day today with Nikita Khrushchev's 50,000-word oration, and then hear a report on the five-year plan by Premier Bulganin.

Copies of Khrushchev's marathon speech were pasted on billboards throughout Moscow. The Russian people started reading the text of the speech, which covers almost 10 pages of specially enlarged editions of Pravda and Izvestia.

Observers say the six-hour speech by the ebullient ex-coal miner is likely to become the "bible" of post-Stalinist Russia. For the next two days the 1,600 delegates will listen to speeches following Khrushchev's 50,000-word oration, and then hear a report on the five-year plan by Premier Bulganin.

The Russian people started reading the text of the speech, which covers almost 10 pages of specially enlarged editions of Pravda and Izvestia.

The Soviet press rarely prints summaries of such occasions, and Russians must read through the length of a novel to find out what Khrushchev said.

Some less-important newspapers unable to print the full text of the Khrushchev speech published part of it today and said it was "to be continued."

It was noted that Khrushchev stressed that the "transition to socialism" need not always be connected with civil war in all countries and circumstances.

Some Socialists joined in to help the Communists. Damasio was the centre of an incident in the assembly Tuesday when he attempted a filibuster against a motion to invalidate the election of a Poujadist from the Haute Garonne department. He refused to budge from the rostrum, forcing Letrouquer to suspend the session.

though in some it was inevitable. Khrushchev put peaceful co-existence with capitalism at the head of a list of Russia's main tasks, and said that pending agreement on major questions of disarmament, Russia would agree to stop hydrogen bomb tests.

Western observers agree that the massive report given at Tuesday's opening session by the party secretary confirmed him as head man and dissipated pre-conference rumors that changes in the top-level hierarchy were possible.

Some deputies began throwing chairs. From one of the seats the noise of firecrackers was heard.

Agence France-Presse reported that the "explosion" came from a toy pistol. A Poujadist, Jean Damasio of the Seine department county, precipitated the fight when he and another Poujadist rushed for the speaker's rostrum in an effort to halt a vote on an anti-Poujade motion.

Several Communist deputies dashed from their seats to haul the Poujadists down, and the fight became general between Communists and Poujadists.

B.C.'s Worst
Winter in Five Years

Temperatures will drop to 14 degrees here tonight in what the Dominion weather office at Vancouver says is B.C.'s most severe winter in five years.

Weatherman William Mackie predicted a maximum Thursday of 30 degrees, and expects snow Friday with the advent of a warm Pacific storm.

Minimum temperature overnight was 13.8 degrees. Record low during the damaging November cold spell was 12.5 degrees.

Mr. Mackie predicted a few clouds tonight and some high cloud Thursday. Snow flurries will be infrequent, he said.

The weather struck severely at Brentwood Tuesday night, dropping four inches of snow between 9 p.m. and midnight and whipping the inlet with high wind. Trans-Canada Airline flights were grounded, and a Brentwood boathouse operator reported two boats badly battered by heavy seas.

The CPR reported the Canadian, crack trans-continental passenger train, was 40 minutes late.

The Kettle Valley train, running on detour times, was about two hours behind schedule. The train has been detouring via Spences Bridge to miss a huge snowslide. The slide was plowed out Tuesday but a heavy snow-plow went off the rails in a tunnel, tearing down timbers and rocks and blocking the line again.

The CNR reported its Super-Continental more than 10 hours late but blamed the delay on "weather conditions on the prairies."

PROROGATION
FOR MARCH 2?

Premier Bennett expects prorogation of the current sitting of the Legislature about March 2. The session started Jan. 17. The budget debate is expected to conclude Thursday. The House then will go into committee for consideration of 1956-57 estimates.

The lawmakers still face the usually heavy task of dealing with new legislation.
